Stray Dog Pick-Ups Increase in DC

By WILL THOMAS
Post Editor

Sixty-six per cent more stray dogs were picked up in Daly City the first three months of this year, compared to the same period in 1973, the Peninsula Humane Society's general manager told the city council Monday.

Appearing at a council study session, John M. Regan said he has assigned an animal control officer to the Daly City-Colma area eight hours daily, six days a week, in an effort in the last 14 months to improve service.

He said 12 animal control officers serve San Mateo County, handling 5,237 stray dogs during February, March and April of this year, compared to 3,684 the previous year.

Regan said PHS during the first three months of 1973 received 279 complaints from the Daly City-Colma area, but 29 per cent fewer during the same period this year. He said he saw this as an indication the PHS is "handling complaints better."

He said the PHS was doing "better on impounds," and that there have been fewer dog bites. Regan said there were 105 Daly City-Colma canine quarantines — in the first three months last year and 81 this year.

More animal owners have been turning in their animals voluntarily rather than "keeping unwanted pets," Regan said, by 25½ per cent over last year.

Regan said he has set a goal for PHS. He wants it to be the best humane society in the United States.

He said he does not believe most persons know what a humane society "stands for" or "what it does."

The Peninsula Humane Society, which is headquartered at 1225 Coyote Point Drive, San Mateo, believes there are some 250,000 animals among the county's 560,000 citizens . . . and one dog for every five residents, Regan said.

But only a small number of these dogs are licensed — in Daly City-Colma about 4,000 of 14,280 canines, Regan said.

Regan is promoting a new, higher licensing fee structure, and he pointed out that only dog owners would be paying the increase. He said San Bruno and Brisbane officials have adopted the changes.

He said to improve the service in the county, he has added four animal control officers. He says they try to "be responsive to 90 per cent of all complaints within 24 hours."

In addition, the animal control officers once weekly conduct saturation patrols — area sweeps — at about dusk, when many dog owners let their animals loose, not expecting an officer to be on duty.

The sweeps have proved successful, Regan said, pointing to one particular July day in Daly City when, between 6:30 and 8:30 p.m., five animal control units were deployed. The results:

Eleven strays were impounded, eight leash law violation citations were issued, and four license citations and four warnings were issued.

SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO BLAZE

A hoseman sent a steady stream of water onto the Lucas Company building in South San Francisco Friday, and firefighting efforts managed to confine the blaze to the single building. Damage to the auto accessory storage building was estimated at $400,000.

'It's Just a Concrete Shell'

Fire Guts SSF Auto Building

A spectacular fire Friday that could be seen for miles in the North County resulted in an estimated $400,000 damage to the Lucas Company, 171 Deacon St., South San Francisco.

"It could go higher," said one fireman.

Fire officials said the cause of the blaze to the auto accessory storage building, from which black smoke billowed, is as yet undetermined and is under investigation.

According to officials, who received a call of the fire at 6:17 p.m., there was $350,000 estimated damage to the building's contents and an estimated $50,000 to the building itself, which now stands as a concrete shell.

The general alarm blaze necessitated the use of four South San Francisco engines. San Bruno's snorkle also was used. Daly City's aerial truck, although called, was not needed, officials said.

Brisbane units manned South San Franciso's central station, and San Francisco Airport's firefighting units lent lighting equipment as the firemen fought the blaze in the waning twilight hours.

There were no injuries reported, nor has it yet been determined how badly nearby establishments were damaged by the fire, said one official.

"It was a spectacular fire that could be seen for miles," said one fireman. "The building is now just a concrete shell."

Pact on Wildman's Gulch

An agreement between the City of Daly City and the Nichiren Shoshu Academy in connection with the development of steep, hazardous Wildman's Gulch as a walkway and eventual garden area was authorized Monday by the City Council.

The pact, at the urging of the council, includes provisions for a review of the project and municipal termination of the agreement, if warranted, after 12 months.

The academy, which operates a religious facility at 50 Northridge Drive, would develop the adjoining gulch, with members' labor and cost, a public area to be known as "Daisaku Ikeda Canyon Gardens," honoring the academy's lay leader and president, Diasaku Ikeda.

The agreement states:

—Nichiren Shoshu Academy (NSA) will landscape and develop Wildman's Gulch at its sole cost and expense.

—NSA will provide the city with necessary landscaping plans, including plantings, pathways, irrigation systems, for approval by the Department of Recreation, Parks and Maintenance and the city engineer. No such work shall be performed until the city's departments approve.

SSF's Martin House May Be Restored

South San Francisco's fire-damaged, historic Martin House won a reprieve Monday night from the City Council — but it was only temporary.

"That public out there are the ones who must make the decision," Mayor Terry Mirri declared.

The City Council directed City Manager Ed Alario to have an appraisal done of the half-acre site at 801 Grand Ave., and also to appraise various city-owned properties so that the city can work a land trade with the Martin House's owner, George Burkhardt.

In addition, Alario will write all volunteer groups in South San Francisco in order to determine what can be expected in the way of volunteer efforts to restore the house. On Oct. 7, he will report to the council what the decision of the people of South San Francisco is.

A council decision on saving the house had been postponed from the Sept. 3 meeting, because only three out of the five councilmen were there. Monday night, all five were present.

"Before anything so old is destroyed," Councilman Warren Steinkamp declared Monday night, "let's take a look at the historic and aesthetic value."

He contrasted this country with Europe, which he had recently visited. Europe, he declared, appreciates its heritage of fine old buildings.

"Let's not be too hasty to destroy our history," he warned.

He was supported by Councilman Frank Mammini, who felt that the Martin House was the last of South San Francisco's history.

Recommending that the house be razed were Building Inspector Roy F. Ghilardi and Fire Chief Lawrence A. Toellner. Frank J. Addiego, director of public services, as well as Alario himself, showed their obvious preference for razing the house, on the basis of expense.

Alario, however, agreed to work to save the house, if that is what the councilmen wanted.

Addiego cited the figures of $65,000 for total land value and $80,000 for bare restoration of the house to livability. Landscaping would add another $10,000, for a $155,000 total.

Alario noted that historical restoration would cost between $250,000 and $800,000. All the fixtures had been looted, as well as irreplaceable hardware and moldings.

The only audience comments came from Fernando Teglia, 378 Altamont Drive, and his wife, Roberta. Teglia declared that "In my estimate, that structure is completely destroyed. You'd be building a modern historical structure. There are other areas where you can utilize the money better."

"It is not as destroyed as it looks," Mammini assured him.

It was Mrs. Teglia who urged that the amount of volunteer work available be more carefully assessed before action be taken.

Alario warned the council that there was no funds available for saving the house, and that therefore as much as possible would have to be done outside of the city budget.

Councilmen Dick Battaglia and Leo Padreddii urged that South San Francisco's wealth of labor skills and financial resources be tapped — particularly to urge citizens to give of their time.

SP Rate Increase Hearing

Assemblyman Louis J. Papan (D-Daly City) announced he has been appointed chairman of the special subcommittee of the Assembly Transportation Committee investigating the recent 111 per cent Peninsula commuter fare increase requested by the Southern Pacific Transportation Company.

The subcommittee, the Interim Subcommittee on San Francisco Peninsula Rail Commuter Service, will hold two days of hearings, tomorrow and Friday. The hearings will start at 10 a.m. Thursday at the Burlingame City Council Chambers at 501 Primrose Road, Burlingame.

Assemblyman Papan, a member of the Assembly Transportation Committee, stated, "the purpose of the hearings will be to take public testimony on the impact of the proposed rate hike on commuter use of Southern Pacific's service, the effect on automobile traffic in the Highway 101 corridor, and the necessity for such a large increase at this time."

See Related Story Page 10

The hearings came as a result of Assemblyman Papan's formal request of Assembly Speaker Leo T. McCarthy and the newly appointed chairman of the Assembly Transportation Committee, Assemblyman Walter Ingalls (D-Riverside).

"I requested the hearings in order to provide the citizens of San Mateo and Santa Clara Counties the opportunity to voice their views regarding this rate hike," Papan stated.

Persons interested in testifying at these hearings should contact Assemblyman Papan's district office at (415) 756-6400 or at the Capitol at (916) 445-8020.

That's Odd . . .

A funny thing happened to several Daly City residents when they arrived at the city's Social Security office last week: the building wasn't there.

The mixup came about as a result of Pacific Telephone Company's apparent overeagerness to please its subscribers. In a new directory issued about two weeks ago, the company listed the Daly City Social Security office as located at 312 90th St., across from City Hall.

Persons seeking assistance from the Social Security office found themselves wandering knee-deep through a weed-covered vacant lot vainly searching for the building that wasn't.

Fact is the General Services Administration does not expect the building to be completed for another year.

Plans call for a multi-story structure to be constructed by a private firm then leased to GSA. Daly City City Mgr. David Rowe said plans for constructing the building are in the final stages.

Meanwhile, residents of Daly City wishing Social Security assistance are urged to visit the San Francisco office at 2311 Taravel St.

Hearing on Taxi Rate Increase

Three public hearings — including one on a requested Yellow Cab Co. rate increase — have been set for Oct. 15 by the City Council in Daly City.

The taxicab firm wants the same rate as that received recently in San Francisco, because "our operating costs in Daly City are practically identical to our costs in San Francisco."

That rate:

"Eighty cents for the first one-eighth mile or "flag"; 20-cents for each additional one-fourth mile or fraction thereof; 20-cents for each 1½ minute or fraction thereof waiting or traffic delay time. For out-of-town trips exceeding 15 miles beyond the city limits, the fare will be 150 per cent of the metered rate."

A weed abatement cost report and an appeal on one owner's building requirements will be among the other Oct. 15 hearing items.

Confusing Mission St. Signs to Be Reviewed

Directional signs on John Daly Boulevard and Mission Street in Daly City will be reviewed by the municipality's staff.

The Daly City Mission Merchants Association has called arrows "contradictory." Several members have received traffic tickets, President Vince Merlo wrote to the City Council.

The council referred the matter to its staff for study.

Merlo wrote:

"It seems as you are traveling east on the boulevard there are arrows painted on the street indicating that you may use the right lane to go either straight ahead or turn to your right onto Mission Street, but by the time you reach the corner there is another arrow indicating that you may only turn right onto Mission Street."

Scouting Showcase

Park No. 276 will present its three-act history of America, complete with sets built over the center fountain, at the Sept. 28-29 Scouting Showcase on the Serramonte Mall.

Saturday presentations will begin at 10:30 a.m. and start again every half hour with the last run-through starting at 5 p.m. On Sunday, from 12:30 to 4:30 p.m. on every half hour, the show will last 15 minutes.

Firemen Going to Medical School

By JACK BIK

Ten South San Francisco firemen are going to medical school.

Every morning, they are transported to the Stanford University Medical Center, where they take a shortened version of the same kind of course that doctors must go through in order to qualify for their medical degrees.

The firemen, however, will take only 15 weeks of this intensive curriculum. This will include 200 hours of classroom work, followed by at least 100 hours in clinical work, and a final 200 hours or more in some kind of internship.

Their training will be topped off by practical training in helping in emergency rooms, intensive care units and delivery rooms. Final details have not yet been resolved, according to South San Francisco Fire Chief Lawrence Toellner.

THE 10 FIREMEN will receive a thorough grounding in anatomy, with special training in treatment of heart attacks, strokes, shock, burns, accident injuries and other causes of sudden emergencies.

When the firemen receive their certificates of graduation from the San Mateo County Medical Officer Dec. 15, they will become members of one of the country's newest professions — paramedics. To be exact, they will be "emergency medical technicians."

They will be qualified to perform services that, heretofore, only medical doctors have been allowed to do. However, at all times, they will be working under direction of a medical doctor, stationed at South San Francisco's new Kaiser Foundation Hospital.

THEY WILL not replace ambulances, which will continue to perform their usual transportation duties. However, the paramedics will be expected to provide enough care so that, in most cases, the ambulances no longer will have to speed so quickly to the hospital, since the patient already will be under emergency care. A paramedic often will ride the ambulance to the hospital. The other member of the two-man paramedic team will follow the ambulance in his own emergency van should the patient develop complications along the way.

South San Francisco's paramedics will be organized into three teams of three men each, so there will be at least two paramedics on duty at all times — considered the minimum in order to operate both radio and medical equipment at the same time.

In a compromise adopted by the City Council, to make the program financially feasible, the paramedics normally will function as firemen. Only Capt. William Stridbeck will operate as a fulltime paramedic officer.

TO START the program, San Mateo County has granted $35,000 from revenue-sharing funds, while the city appropriated another $18,000. Cost of training the men is $10,000, which includes the overtime pay needed to insure that at least 19 men are on duty among the city's four firehouses at any one time.

At the Sept. 16 meeting of the City Council, bids are expected to be awarded for purchase of an emergency van. The $5,500 estimated for the vehicle's purchase will only be the beginning; another $20,000 to $30,000 will be needed to modify the van, and fill it with the needed electronic and medical gear, plus life-saving drugs.

The South San Francisco firemen are attending medical classes along with 12 firemen from Palo Alto.

Dr. Michael Eliastam, director of emergency services at Stanford Hospital, is in charge of the program, while Charlene Souza, RN, emergency services training coordinator, will be supervising the training.

Chief Toellner is looking forward to beginning the life-saving program by Jan. 1.

"Only failure of equipment to arrive on time can delay us," he vowed.

SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO'S program is being watched carefully by cities throughout the Peninsula. A number of neighboring cities are considering adoption of the program.

South San Francisco's program will be the first in San Mateo County. Campbell, in Santa Clara County will start its program, with eight trained firemen-paramedics, next month, to become the first in northern California.

SSF Petitions Seek Recall

Members of the Vigilant Voters Committee are circulating petitions to determine how many residents favor recall of four South San Francisco city councilmen.

President Ron Acosta said VVC members were canvassing the city's shopping centers last weekend.

The petitions read, in part: "On June 4, the voting public defeated a proposition that would have approved a method to finance a police and fire department safety complex. On July 15, four councilmen approved a resolution to fund the complex from municipal funds, referred to as 'surplus funds.'

"The undersigned residents of South San Francisco would now favor a petition to recall councilmen Frank Mammini, Warren Steinkamp, Richard Battaglia and Terry Mirri."

Councilman Leo Padreddii had voted against continuing with the fire-police facility, although he originally had supported it, saying he did not want to go against the voters.

Mayor Terry Mirri had cited the overwhelming support of the electorate that fell only a few hundred votes short of providing the needed two-thirds vote.

The council is setting up a non-profit corporation to finance and build the facility and then lease it back to the city.

Acosta said, "The question at hand is 'why vote?' In order to bring the government closer to the people, the right of voting must be upheld."

Public Hearing Set on Redevelopment in DC

The Daly City Planning Commission Wednesday directed City Planner John Walker to set a public hearing for early October concerning the proposed redevelopment project area preliminary plan.

On July 23, 1974 the project Area Committee, made up of persons owning or residing in the Mission Street-Junipero Serra Boulevard areas unanimously endorsed the plan.

Frank Spadarella, chairman of the 23 member group, forwarded to the planning commission the preliminary plan for redevelopment of the two commercial areas "with a great deal of enthusiasm and hope."

City Manager David Rowe explained highlights of the draft plan at the Wednesday meeting, pointing out the jagged boundary lines of the project area, the result of the city council's determination to exclude all residential neighborhoods from redevelopment.

Have there been requests to include residential properties in the redevelopment project, planning commission Chairman Ed O'Donnell asked?

Crocker Land Company officials did discuss the possibility of being included in the matter, some months ago, Rowe said, however, these talks were shelved for the time being.

There are laws, Rowe pointed out, that allow boundary lines to be amended after adoption of the preliminary plan by the commission and, later, by the city council and redevelopment agency.

In most instances, adjacent landowners must petition the city for annexation of their properties to the redevelopment area.

Following a series of public hearings held earlier, the city council voted to condense the redevelopment project area, excluding all residential. They then forwarded their decision back to city planners and directed that five member body to adopt the new boundaries.

"It is the feeling of our membership that this present preliminary plan draft, in its goal and objective over-all text, contains all the fundamental elements necessary to establish a firm base upon which to build a successful redevelopment endeavor," Spadarella said.

Emergency Phone Number

Pacifica Leads Way

Some day, every person in the United States may be able to phone a single number, 911, and receive emergency services.

Starting Oct. 1, however, Pacifica will be the only city in San Mateo County providing this service to its residents.

According to Pacific Telephone Co. officials, Pacifica will be the first such city because its prefixes — 355 and 359 — most nearly coincide with the city boundaries.

A state law enacted in 1972 requires every city to adopt the number by 1982. Pacifica plans to forward to the state the $3,000 bill received from the telephone company for installing the system.

The 911 system is used by Sunnyvale, with reported success, as well as by a number of foreign countries. Its use was recommended in 1967 by the President's Commission on Law Enforcement.

According to Pacifica City Manager Dave Thompson, persons dialing that number from 355 or 359 prefixes will get a special operator, who will quickly route the call to the fire or police department.

Pacifica Council Calls For Nixon Impeachment

After a a bitter debate over the proper role of city government, the Pacifica City Council last Tuesday night voted, 3-2, to petition Congress to proceed with impeachment of Richard Nixon.

Opposing the resolution were Mayor Aubrey Lumley and Councilwoman Grace McCarthy, who asserted that a City Council had no business dealing in national issues.

"Occasionally," Mrs. McCarthy said, "an issue arises which we feel about so strongly that we are tempted to use our office to promote our views."

Such action, however, when it has nothing to do with city government, "weakens our effectiveness as city councilmen," she added.

The test os such an issue, she said, is whether the city council has discussed it previously in dealing with city problems.

Councilwoman Janice Fulford asserted, "It is my belief that the fabric of government — even at this very table — is threatened (by President Ford's action). This is of sufficient import that old policies governing what councils can discuss should be abandoned."

Pacifica Selects New City Manager

Donald G. Weidner has been appointed city manager of Pacifica, Mayor Aubrey M. Lumley III announced last Tuesday night.

Weidner is currently city manager of San Juan Capistrano. He will assume his new post Oct. 14, replacing David J. Thompson who is leaving Sept. 30 to become city manager of Manhattan Beach.

In the two-week interim, Police Chief Mel Nelson, an 11-year city employe, will be acting city manager.

Weidner, 39, is being hired at a salary of $28,350. He reportedly will visit Pacifica on the weekend of Sept. 21-22 to seek a new home and to meet with his new city staff.

The new manager has been at San Juan Capistrano since April, 1971, going there from Manteca, where he was also city manager.

Lumley described him as "a dynamic type" with a good deal of planning in his background and the "best man for the job in this particular time of Pacifica's history." He was chosen unanimously out of 120 applicants for the post.

The council visited Weidner in San Juan Capistrano Saturday. He notified the council of his decision to accept the post Monday.

When Weidner's present council was notified, it tried to keep him on for 60 to 90 days more but Pacifica bargained hard.

"We felt sympathetic but we have our city to look after," Lumley asserted.

Weidner received his bachelor's degree in public administration from Wayne State University in Detroit. He was assistant to the city manager and assessor at Huntington Woods, Mich., then village manager for Milford, Mich., before coming west.

He received his master of science degree in government from California State University, Los Angeles, and was then appointed assistant to the city manager of Glendale.

DA Doubts Legality Of Pardon

San Mateo County Dist. Atty. Keith C. Sorenson Wednesday questioned if President Ford's pardon of Richard Nixon is constitutional and said he believes it can still be challenged.

"I doubt if the framers of the Constitution intended to give anybody the right of wiping the slate clean without anything being on the slate," Sorenson declared.

"I do not think the Constitution's framers had in mind granting blanket pardons as pardons are only intended for persons already convicted of offenses," Sorenson maintained.

While expressing doubts that any citizens' organization could file an action challenging President Ford's action, Sorenson said that someone such as Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski or U.S. Atty. Gen. William Saxbe could raise the question and have it brought before the U.S. Supreme Court.

For example, either law enforcement official could ask the court for a writ to set aside the pardon on constitutional grounds, he said.

"The courts are supposed to rule on reasonable construction," Sorenson maintained, saying that he thought there would be a good chance the Supreme Court might declare the pardon unconstitutional.

Retention of BART Tax Urged by City

The City Council in Daly City Monday urged Governor Reagan to sign the bill (SB 1966) which would retain the one-half cent sales tax in three Bay Area counties to finance Bay Area Rapid Transit District operations.

Introduced by Councilman Victor Kyriakis, the resolution pointed out that discontinuance of BART for lack of funds would "cause great inconvenience and disruption to those citizens of Daly City who presently use the system and contribute to fare revenues."

The western terminus of the system is in Daly City.

Only taxpayers in San Francisco, Alameda and Contra Costa Counties pay the tax override, the resolution explained.

Wildman's Gulch

—NSA will provide appropriate signs at the entrance to the recreation area.

—The city agrees to rename the gulch to "Daisaku Ikeda Canyon Gardens."

—The city will maintain the area after completion.

—After completion by NSA the area shall become a public park and recreation area, open to and for the enjoyment of all residents of Daly City.

—NSA shall complete its landscaping and development by July 1, 1984.

An NSA spokesman, Lynn Rachuy, the area director headquartered in Daly City, said he was authorized to go as high as $100,000 for the total project. He estimated the cost of the initial walkway would be $10,000 or slightly less.

He indicated NSA already has obtained 1,000 pine trees to be planted soon on the site.

The possibility of cherry trees there is being studied, provided a hardy type of tree—one which can withstand the fog and winds—can be obtained, Rachuy said after the meeting.

Councilman William Schumacher questioned the instability of the area through erosion.

City Manager David Rowe explained the city "will have control, and that is reasonable control" over the project through its varied municipal departments.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss . . . and grow more hair.

For years, "they said it couldn't be done". But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment for both men and women, that is not only stopping hair loss . . . but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. They invite you to try the treatment for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this opportunity unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Hair loss caused by sebum can also run in your family, and many other conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have any hair on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair . . . now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially, by mail and without obligation. Adv.

Daly City Council Denies Pinball Permit

Supporting recommendations of its police department, the Daly City City Council last Tuesday voted unanimously to deny a business license to Don Malnati, owner of a Southgate Avenue amusement center.

"Don's Sports Unlimited of Westlake" features pinball machines and so-called "games of skill."

The center has 30 such machines, each costing a minimum of 25 cents to operate, Malnati told the council.

Malnati said the denial would result in his going bankrupt.

He said he had already invested some $25,000 in the machines, which bring in an estimated 60 cents per hour.

Asked by Councilman Anthony Giammona how much a person could spend in playing these devices in an hour, Malnati said "If they played real fast, about $5."

He later responded that some patrons — primarily youth — are at play "for hours."

Council Paul Hupf, after being informed by Malnati that denial of the business license would result in bankruptcy, responded, "(the) figures you gave us indicate you're already heading for bankruptcy."

Hupf also asked Malnati how long he had been operating the center and was told "five weeks."

How could he operate a business in the city without a business license, councilman Bill Schumacher asked?

It was an unintended mistake, City Attorney Albert Polonsky said.

Malnati applied in July for a "regular" business permit under existing procedures at City Hall.

He did not know about the city regulations governing amusement devices, Polonsky said.

"Once he learned of this (Malnati) applied to the police department," Polonsky explained.

There are two types of licensing practices in Daly City, Polonsky pointed out.

One is strictly a revenue producing license used for computing gross tax receipts.

The second is to govern operations of businesses, such as dance halls, amusement centers, bowling alleys and pool halls.

When the center started operations, merchants complained to The Post and queries were made to city hall on the practice of issuing a business license.

No one wanted to "speak on the record."

Apparently "someone" in city hall failed to explain the law to Malnati.

The city's finance department is in charge of issuance of these licenses, however; in certain cases, the applicant must first approach the police department for investigation and approval, and then the fire department.

In the Malnati matter, the fire department listed 14 deficiencies that would have to be cleared before the center opened to the public.

And yet it opened last month, and Malnati said his patronage is increasing daily — from $2,600 the first month of operation to $4,000 anticipated this month.

The police report on the establishment was not made public.

Giammona said the "police (department) feels very strongly about denial of the permit and asked the council (to) concur with that recommendation.

Mrs. Elsie Tonelli, a resident of the area where the center is located, told the council that the center would be a bad influence on youth and although the south side of Southgate Avenue is commercial the center is "in poor taste" for the type of businesses there.

On one side of the center is a pet shop and the other is a cleaning business.

Malnati did not indicate he would pursue the matter in court, although he told the council — made up of three attorneys, a high school athletic director and a businessman — that in some cases the Supreme Court had found laws placing restrictions on pinball machines to be "unconstitutional."

Fire Hits Apartment

A two-alarm fire at a four-unit apartment building in Daly City caused some $24,000 in damages and drove 10 persons into the street about 3 p.m. last Wednesday.

No one was hurt in the blaze, according to Battalion Chief Wayne Alexander.

Alexander said cause of the fire, which apparently started in a basement storage room, is still under investigation.

He would not rule out arson, at this time, he said.

The fire traveled up a stairwell and heavily damaged entranceways to the four apartments, owned by Ray Monson, 70 Longview Drive, Daly City.

Firemen were forced to abandon efforts to extinguish a stubborn grass fire in the rugged cliff area above Thornton Beach because a second alarm was called in to combat the apartment fire.

2 Women Attacked

Two young women were attacked in separate incidents in Pacifica last Wednesday night, police reported.

A 19-year old woman was grabbed from behind soon after she stepped off of a bus at the Linda Mar Shopping Center at 7:19 p.m. She told police she was blindfolded and driven about for 1½ hours, then raped. The man, described as 30, clean-shaven and with medium length hair, then drove her back to a point near her home.

At 5:22 p.m., a 26-year old sales clerk, sunning herself on a secluded spot on a deserted Sharp Park Beach, was attacked by a man who began hitting her. However, she escaped with minor injuries, police reported.

Burglars Hit

An $1,800 burglary was reported last weekend at the Lorillard Co., 1442 Rollins Road, Burlingame.

Boat Ramp Funds Sought

The Pacifica City Council last week voted to apply for a $10,000 grant from the Harbor Commission to conduct an environmental, engineering and economic feasibility study of a $300,000 boat launching ramp on Pedro Point.

Councilwoman Janice Fulford, herself a resident of Pedro Point, objected that the neighbors of the site be consulted on how they felt about such matters as a proposed 100-car parking lot. However, she eventually agreed to vote for the measure upon assurance that the study would not commit the city to building the ramp, and that a public hearing would be held before the council definitely decides to build the ramp.

The ramp was proposed by the Pacifica Chamber of Commerce. General Manager C. Paul Sutterley reported that funds for the study may be available from the Harbor District, and that the State Department of Navigation and Ocean Development "would look favorably upon grant money to build the project."

Sutterley — whose background includes development of the Berkeley Yacht Harbor — told councilmen that the ramp would provide Pacifica with $100,000 or more in income from out of towners coming to launch their boats, as well as serve as a convenience to local citizens.

"I see many boats in local garages," he said. "They must be going somewhere out of town to launch them."

The ramp would, in no way, he said, hurt the marine complex proposed for Rockaway Beach.

Councilwoman Grace McCarthy said there has been a private launching ramp in Pedro Point for years, and that many persons now illegally launch boats in Pacifica by driving down on the beach.

Co-op Nursery School Moves to San Bruno

United Methodist Church, 560 El Camino Real, San Bruno is the new home of the Children's Community Nursery, sponsored by the YWCA in San Bruno.

The school, which has been located in Daly City the past five years, will open its doors Oct. 15 to children between 2 years 9 months to 5 years of age.

Under the direction of Sheryl Blackney, the school is a parent-participation of "co-op" nursery school. This means that all parents are required to participate in the school.

Full parent participation involves working in the nursery one morning every other week. Partial participation excuses the parent from morning duty. Only a small percentage are accepted on this basis.

The school is a non-profit organization run on the funds it collects through tuition. Sessions are held Monday through Friday 9:30 to noon.

For details contact the YWCA office in San Bruno, or Marilyn Dinges 871-7385.

The Public Voice
Women Attorneys

To The Editor:

Regarding the feature story in (Sept. 4) paper, by Lin Day, on the three women attorneys employed by the County of San Mateo: I am happy to see a feature article of this length and importance.

However . . . chauvinism runs rampant . . . and I do not know if Lin Day is a male or female. The information you imparted to the public was tainted and was rendered practically ineffective by your reference to these professional women lawyers as Keith Sorenson's "stable". I have heard this expression used to refer to prostitutes, never to attorneys. If the Mss. Ray, Mallach and Wentworth were males, I know that degrading term never would have been used. Shame on the author.

And have you ever read of three grown professional men referred to other than at a bar or in the back room, as "the boys"? Every time you call a woman or a lady a "girl", you put her down. Every person is entitled to be referred to with dignity, professional or not.

Furthermore, men are always referred to as Mr. Sc and So or by their last names. Why this double standard?

Please, let us have a stop to having two sets of journalism rules when writing about people. It is hack writing like this that keeps the dignity of women down and perpetuates the idea in the mind of the public that women are to be treated in a lesser manner.

It is my hope that future articles written by your staff will be given more consideration and fairer treatment.

Yours for clearer and fairer journalism,
BARBARA C. ZIMMER,
Daly City.

Expanded Activities at This Year's Cow Palace Grand National

Reputation of the Grand National as the West's most significant livestock market place will be enhanced this year, with announcement by officials 15 animal sales have been scheduled at the classic Western show.

The expwnded activity provides the Grand National with the most auctions in its 30-year history, Livestock Superintendent Darrel Chapman noted. Sales are set for virtually every day of the show's 10-day run at the Cow Palace, Oct. 25 through Nov. 3.

This year's sales schedule culminates a three-year program to develop "at least one major Grand National sales event of interest to every Western rancher, regardless of his animal or breed specialty," Chapman commented. "We have achieved our goal of providing in a single event for the needs of every segment of the livestock industry.

Chapman predicted gross sales in the 10 days of feverish Cow Palace activity would exceed one-million dollars this year, an all-time record high.

Over 700 head of top quality animals will be offered to commercial cattlemen, ranging from more than 200 range bulls to a wide selection of exotic purebreds, and including an All-American Polled Hereford event on Oct. 30.

Sheepmen will dominate on Nov. 2 with three sales, beginning with the first National Hampshire Sheep event and continuing throughout the day with separate Suffolk and all-breed sales.

Completing its emphasis on a fully-rounded slate of "red meat" animal marketing opportunities, a Western Breeding Swine sale is scheduled for the opening Saturday.

Cattle events will reflect the growing interest among Western ranchers in European exotics. New to the Grand National this year will be a Limousin sale. The Charolais breed returns after a one-year absence, and Swiss Simmentals will be back for a third straight year following two highly successful previous sales.

Champman also pointed out that the Grand National Feeder Calf sale on the final Sunday provided opportunities for youngsters to acquire high quality animals for preparation as 1975 Junior Grand National and county fair entries.

Livestock judging and sales are only one phase of the nationally famous Grand National. Concurrent daily performances in the Cow Palace arena put top professional cowboys in rodeo action for total purses exceeding $80,000, as well as a full program of horse show events.

Transit System 'Three, Four Years Away'

San Mateo County cannot look to an actual rapid transit system — whether it be an upgrading of the Southern Pacific or an extension of BART — for the next three or four years.

That was the word received last week from the Metropolitan Transportation Commission board of control public hearing on the matter held in Palo Alto.

The third hearing is scheduled Sept. 24, probably at the Millbrae Recreation Center.

Eric Mohr, project director, predicted that the state Public Utility Commission is not likely to act very quickly on Southern Pacific's request for a 111 per cent commute rate increase, and hearings probably will be lengthy and more complex than expected and will take many months.

Joseph P. Bort, chairman of the board of control for the project and a representative of Alameda County, said the report is only very preliminary, and will be submitted to a work-study committee for refinement before it is presented to the Metropolitan Transportation Commission as a whole.

Joseph G. Beckett, chairman of the MTC and a representative of Santa Clara County, said preliminary studies (costing $75,000) have indicated that it is legally and physically feasible to upgrade the Southern Pacific service, and possibly economically feasible.

Again and again at the meeting, however, it was pointed out that no public transportation system in the nation is economically self-sufficient, and San Mateo County, if voters ap- prove creation of a county transportation district at the November general election can be expected to pay 20 per cent of the operating costs of any rapid transit district through a district tax.

The "Yardstick" for upgrading the S. P., Beckett said, would be if it costs less than an alternatijlve plan, such as the expansion of BART.

He said it is becoming increasingly clear that if BART is to be extended, it will have to be done so by making a complete loop around the Bay, beginning at Daly City, going through San Jose and running up through Alameda County.

"Obviously it would not be feasible to terminate at Menlo Park," Beckett said. "Redwood City would even be better. I have a constant skepticism about upgrading the S.P. commute system versus a rapid transit service."

Supervisor William Royer said, "In San Mateo we feel this report will provide us with the answer to the automobile."

Eric Horn, project director, said to simplify the question is to choose between building a totally new transport system or to remodel a system that is already in existence.

But he added, the question is not quite so simple.

"Upgrade to what?" he asked rhetorically. "There are various levels."

Among these, Mohr said, would be to maintain a conventional system to take a batch of suburban citizens to the core city '— "a limited service to a limited group.

"This service is fine if you do not live too far from a station and do not work too far from its terminus. It's fast; it's comfortable; it's safe."

He said it would be possible for the railroad to use the same tracks for its passenger and freight service, as the Southern Pacific now divides its days into a five-hour passenger day and a 19-hour freight day.

Under this system, however, Mohr reported, cross streets present problems of delays to auto traffic and create dangerous hazards.

Although bus service may be provided to stations, Mohr said, the occasional user now has difficulty in obtaining information for bus and train connections.

Under the present system, 60 per cent of the commuters must transfer to some other type of transportation when they reach San Francisco, while 30 per cent walk to work.

To eliminate these, he said, two recommendations have been made:

—To use the San Bruno spur, which once carried two tracks, to transport commuters to the 'BART station at Daly City, where they could transfer to 'BART trains on "people movers."

—The Southern Pacific line could be extended underground to a regional trans-Bay terminal in central San Francisco.

"I don't want to exaggerate the difficulties of transit service," Mohr warned. "It is unlikely that the Southern Pacific, which is not exactly enthusiastic, will develop some of its own alternatives."

Mohr noted that the present San Francisco S.P. depot at Third and Townsend Streets is expected to be razed within the next few months so the railroad can move its facilities one block west up to Fourth Street.

He said there is a plan, however, for the railroad to extend one track to connect with the State Belt Railroad on the Embarcadero, and this could be utilized to take trains up to Market Street, although they would still not penetrate the central business district.

Mohr pointed out that the Southern Pacific Headquarters on Market Street was originally designed in a "U" shape to serve as a terminal building, but construction of the Rincon annex post office building blocked access.

He reported that there is a little known track that would allow trains to get into Main and Mission Streets, although the railroad is now planning a 34-story building there.

Whatever plan is eventually utilized, according to Mohr, "it will involve money. The money is not there now. There is no public institution with taxing authority, although we might legislate one. We in Contra Costa, Alameda and San Francisco Counties are ponying up the money for BART. We cannot help but wonder why San Mateo County cannot do this, too."

It was estimated that it would cost $800 million to extend BART to Menlo Park.

One member of the audience from Santa Clara County, who suggested servicebe extended to Gilroy and Los Altos, asked, "Does this thing depend on San Mateo County? Can it be hamstrung by one agency?"

He suggestged a regional transportation agency be set up.

Bort agreed this might be one answer, but he warned that other areas probably would not want to pick up the annual $1.4-million deficit of San Francisco in operating its municipal railway system.

Bort concluded that the preliminary report should be completed around the end of the year or early in January.

Two Park Rangers to Patrol Pacifica Fishing Pier

Pacifica's Fishing Pier will be getting two park rangers, complete with uniforms and Smokey the Bear hats.

They will perform the double duty of keeping the pier clean and helping police enforce the long ordinance governing use of the pier, designed to keep fishermen from bothering each other and endangering lives.

They also will be equipped with electric cars and life-saving equipment. They will be paid from funds received under the Emergency Employment Act.

The positions were approved Tuesday night by the Pacifica City Council.

In other action, the City Council voted to:

• Negotiate with C&C Transit, which now operates the Little Red Bus, to operate Pacifica's new eight bus municipal bus line. Buses are expected to arrive in April, 1975.

• Refer to the San Pedro Creek Flood Abatement Committee a report entitled "San Pedro Creek Master Plan," drawn up by the Pacifica Creek Protection Committee. The plan recommends the creek remain in its natural condition, erosion be controlled, a separate storm drain system be developed, 30-foot building setbacks be set, and an educational program pertinent to enhancement of San Pedro Creek as a community facility be started.

• Accept completion of the cleaning of the digester at the Sharp Park Sewage Treatment Plant, and authorized payment of the rest of the $49,182 contract to Oscar E. Erickson Inc. Odors have now been abated, according to City Manager Dave Thompson.

• Approve lease and agreement with the Laguna Salada School District for spending $15,750 in revenue-sharing funds to put in an additional baseball diamond, a children's play area, picnic area and off-street parking area.

• Raise dog license fees from $6 to $7; $3 to $3.50 for altered dogs, $2 to $4 for late payment surcharge, and $1.50 to $3 for boarding dogs and cats. In a move to discourage persons from using the pound to board their animals, as well as from being careless with their animals, the council voted to increase the fee for impounding dogs and cats from a straight $5 to $10, $20 and $30 for first, second and third occurences.

• Approve a resolution supporting construction of a new San Francisco jail, within the boundaries of San Francisco, and to abandon the present jail adjacent to Pacifica.

• Table a resolution urging a "no" vote on Proposition 17, on the basis that it was not the business of the council to take stands on state issues.

• Appropriate $1,000 to remodel restrooms at the fishing pier so that they could be used by handicapped persons.

• Appropriate $500 to repair the fire department snorkel.

SP Rates Go Up

Prices of Southern Pacific commuter tickets went up 8 per cent Tuesday, approved by California's Public Utilities Commission.

Over the protests of commuters and its own staff, the state PUC granted SP the fare boosts, to offset increased fuel costs.

Railroad spokesmen told PUC they had spent $391,600 in added fuel costs up to June, when this fare hike was applied for. The increased fares should bring in $375,000 in revenue during the coming year, the PUC said.

Wednesday's fare approval has nothing to do with the 111 per cent rate hike Southern Pacific has requested in recent weeks. Public hearings have not yet been held on that application.

To the Peninsula commuter, Wednesday's rate hikes will mean that daily ticket prices go up from 5 to 15 cents, depending on zone. Five-day monthly tickets will be increased $2.75, and 20-ride family tickets will go up $2.

This is the railroad's second approved rate hike since December, when the PUC granted an 11 per cent increase to pay for increased labor costs.

SSF Speech Class to Meet

William Simonson, who will instruct a speech class beginning at 7 p.m. Thursday at Room B 26, South San Francisco Evening evening High School, says that Toastmaster methods will be incorporated.

An instructor seven years, Simonson says that "the way a person says a thing may be as important as what he says."

The course will stress speech selection, construction, delivery and evaluation. Topics will include personal biographies, occupations, ideals, government process, what happened in Washington, inflation, or whatever.

Simonson is active as director of the Career Guidance and Education Foundation.

GRADUATED

Senior Master Sergeant Jerry C. Eatherly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe L. Eatherly of 769 Baden Ave., South San Francisco, has graduated from the U.S. Air Force Senior Noncommissioned Officer Academy at Gunter AFB, Ala.

During the nine-week course, the sergeant received advanced study in management techniques, behavioral science and contemporary issues which will aid him in fulfilling positions of greater responsibility. The academy is the highest school in the professional military education system for noncommissioned officers.

Sergeant Eatherly has returned to Norton AFB, Calif., where he is a military studies instructor with a unit of the Military Airlift Command.

The sergeant, a 1951 graduate of South San Francisco High School, received an A.A. degree in 1972 from San Bernardino Junior College. His wife, Joan, is the daughter of Frank Sema of Winslow, Airz.

Rate Increase Requested

Council Delays Cable-TV Action

The Pacifica City Council postponed action last Wednesday night on a surprise rate increase requested by the firm holding the city's cable television franchise.

Council members were reluctant to move on the hike for Tele-Communicatio$ins Inc., Pacifica, until they could be satisfied the company is living up to the franchise agreement with the city.

It was that concern with TCI's performance that led to the calling of the special meeting. Last April, the council voted to give the company six months to eliminate the various complaints voiced by subscribers of the system, and to have an audit done by an independent firm.

Also part of the discussion was the feasibility of the city taking over the cable television system.

The audit, being prepared by Main Lanfrentz and Co., is not complete yet. It will performance tests . . . etc.

✓Providing for a signifi- be placed on the agenda for discussion when ready.

Complaints still are being heard about bad picture quality and service.

One man said "TCI should quit the business if it can't do better;" another called for a study to determine whether the company complies with the franchise agreement; and yet another disturbed citizen remarked that it had no right to ask for a rate increase.

Area Manager Spence Wood said the boost was needed to "continue on with today's business."

However, the council decided to delay any increase until the members saw more progress with TCI.

Wood's comments provoked Councilman Stan Farber, who said, "You've got one helluva gall to ask for a raise before you even answer any questions."

Farber told Wood the meeting was arranged in April so the questions about

TCI could be asked. He accused the company of "not making any attempt to improve the system."

Farber pointed to figures in a report by Administrative Assistant Donald Jeffers which showed that 128 of 1,507 cable disconnections made from January to August of this year were due to dissatisfied customers.

Some of the answers that Farber and the other council members wanted were specific dates, plans and explanations on six mattrs that TCI had said it would meet no later than March 31, 1977.

They include:

✓Providing a minimum capacity of 20 channels.

✓Providing multiple access channels for non-broadcast use.

✓Installing adequate local production facilities.

✓Providing system capacity for two-way return communications.

✓Developing technical rules and standards for system operation, including cant level of local program originations.

Regional TCI MANAGER Larry Carleton said the first four items would be done by the specified date. He also claimed the fifth point already is being carried out, and that the last matter is dependent upon the rate increase.

At Farber's request the council directed study regarding rules and standards in the fifth point to determine if they meet Federal Communications Commission requirements. These findings will be presented at one of the next two meetings.

Another element in the cable TV picture is the possibility that the city could revoke the franchise with TCI, and run the system itself.

In Jeffer's report, he said that "with the growing sentiment that the performance of TCI has been inadequate . . . it appears an appropriate time to investigate alternatives to the current service."

San Bruno has such an ownership, and Jeffers reported that its city staff said the move was a good investment for the city and that the municipally owned cable system has been very well accepted by the residents.

According to Jeffers, San Bruno will receive $150,000-$200,000 a year in revenue from the cable service, while the return on a franchise basis using a five per cent franchise fee would be only $18,000 per year to the city.

SHARP PARK PAVING

Work is proceeding on the paving of about a mile of Pacifica's streets, mostly in west Sharp Park. The project is part of a program to up-grade streets as old as 65 years, as well as to install curbs and sidewalks. Director of Public Works Norman C. Rubel said he hoped the project would be done by mid-October, barring rains or other delays. Avove is Salada Avenue, looking oceanward from Palmetto Avenue.

Pacifica Planners Okay Shopping Center Plan

Pacifica planning commissioners approved last Wednesday, plans for remodeling the aging Linda Mar Shopping Center.

Some of them seemed extremely critical, however, of the way that — in their opinion — the center had been allowed to fall into disrepair.

Architect Thomas Foris laid out plans showing:

- A 10,800 square foot addition at the south end of the easterly row of stores.
- An enclosed mall connecting the addition to the southerly row of shops.
- Removal of the doctor's and optometrist's offices to widen the access drive from the parking lot to the access road around the shopping center.
- Additional landscaping.
- Repair of pavements, where needed.
- Some refurbishing of building facades.

Commissioners closely questioned John Derne, of the Norris, Beggs and Simpson realty firm, which is managing the shopping center for the investment firm of 50 Associates, of Boston. They established the fact that the realty firm apparently has the power of attorney to institute needed refurbishing to the center.

Planning Commission Chairman George Edsell accused the firm of letting the Linda Mar Shopping Center — Pacifica's chief center — become run down.

Foris said he plans to make a few minor changes in the plans for formal submission to the city.

Commissioners also discussed plans to develop two homes on a 90 by 95-foot lot on Carmel Drive. The commissioners did not act on the issue; some of them expressing unfamiliarity with the area. The plan ing staff was directed to work more closely with the developer on the project.

Plans for a new look for the proposed Gypsy Hill towers failed to materialize at the meeting. Several previous plans have been rejected.

Signups for Music Class Being Taken

For those enthusiastic amateurs who missed the first week of registration for Skyline College's Community Chorus (Music 33) they will be able to do so at the course's second meeting Sept. 23, at 7 p.m. in Building 1, Room 111, Ed Valeau, assistant dean of continuing education, announced.

During the year, many concerts have been planned, including at least one joint performance with other bay area choruses, and one with members of the San Francisco Symphony for a Christmas performance of the "Messiah."

Other programs will feature Vivalki's "Gloria" and other music for Christmas. Conductor Gordon Thornett said the group will embark on more modern programs as the course progresses.

Thornett, who is the director of music at Haberdashers' Aske's Hatcham Boys' School in London, is a one year's exchange teacher at Skyline College. Besides directing a number of large-scale choral and orchestral performances he has also coached for the Sadler's Wells Opera Company in London.

He reminds all interested choral members that there will be no auditions. For details about registration call Skyline College at 355-7000, extension 301.

'The Gifts of the Discontent'

DC Friends Book Review Series to Begin

Samuel Chandler, city librarian, will select works of three noted early California women writers to illustrate the theme "The Gift of the Discontent" when he launches the first of The Friends of the Daly City Library 1974-75 book review series at 10 a.m., Sept. 26, in the Coral Room of the Westlake Public Library, 275 Southgate Ave.

The event is offered as a community service, and the public is invited to attend free of charge.

In the days of John Muir, Ina Coolbrith, a pioneer Californian and a poetess, considered ecology and conservation of great importance. Helen Hunt Jackson took an interest in the rights and plight of minorities, especially those of the American Indian. Gertrude Atherton felt a deep concern about the liberation of women. These members of the "weaker sex" helped plant a thought which blazed a path for today's concerned generation to follow.

Chandler is author of "Gateway to the Peninsula," which chronicles the history of Daly City.

The Friends' book review series are among the oldest in continuous existence in the state of California.

Prior to the review a coffee hour will be hostessed by Mrs. Klaus Tschorsnig, hospitality chairwoman. Mrs. John Connolly, president, will be on hand to greet members and guests.

At the event Mrs. H. C. Kincaid, book review chairwoman, will take reservations for a no-host luncheon honoring Chandler which will be held at the Boar's Head Restaurant, 371 Serramonte Center, Daly City.

Another imminent event of The Friends is their Annual Fall Book Fair, under chairmanship of Mrs. Alvin Schwarzbach, to take place from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Sept. 28, at the Westlake Mall. Used books of all kinds, records and sheet music will be sold.

Be Your Own Best Friend When Buying

By LORENE BEASLEY
Editor of BBB Barometer

You can be your own best friend when you make a purchase. The Better Business Bureau is constantly being contacted by shoppers with what they consider to be an "overcharge" on a piece of merchandise.

The Bureau is always careful to record the complaint and then pass it along to the business firm — if for no other reason than to let the firm know they have lost an unhappy customer.

The Bureau does not attempt to tell business what price it can charge for any item and this often seems to aggravate complainants who feel we should "do something about getting the amount of my bill reduced."

In the unique free enterprise sytem in which we live, we have a suggested retail price and a merchant is free to charge what he feels is a proper price for any given item.

The good merchant knows his costs; he knows his market; he puts the two together and charges enough to get back his costs and to show a reasonable profit for his company.

In the great majority of instances, his charge will be reasonable and competitive. He wants you to return as a satisfied customer.

There are, of course, merchants whose prices may be higher than another and this can be the result of any number of factors.

If you, as a consumer, are interested in paying the lowest possible price for an item then the burden of finding that lowest price must rest with you.

There are a number of steps and checks you can make to insure your own satisfaction with the price you will eventually pay.

—Do Do your comparison shipping before you agree to buy — both for quality and price.

—If the salesman keeps lowering his price from an original quote, you can be assured his first quote was too high.

—If you are buying a service and obtaining an estimate, have those estimates put in writing and detailed and make sure that each salesman is bidding on exactly the same thing.

—Look out for offers of "free" merchandise as an inducement to buy. Someone has to pay.

—If the firm intends to "consolidate your debts," as part of the package and is going to put a charge on the merchandise for this service, shop around on price and quality of the original item to determine exactly how much that charge will be.

Temple Prepares for The High Holy Days

In maintaining the mood of the High Holiday season Sabbath services will be held at Congregation B'nai Israel, Sept. 20 beginning at 8:30 p.m.

Rabbi Ira Book and Cantor Jacob Graudenz will lead the Congregation in prayer, and they will be assisted by members of the Congregation offering readings and prayers. An Oneg Shabbat will follow the service. The Sabbath services will continue on Saturday morning at 10 a.m. and will also be conducted by Rabbi Book and Cantor Graudenz.

The High Holy Days for the Jewish New Year 5735 will conclude with the Yom Kippur Services to be held at Congregation B'nai Israel. The Kol Nidre Services will be conducted Sept. 25 beginning at 7:30 p.m. Rabbi Ira Book and Cantor Jacob Graudenz will officiate.

Cantor Graudenz will chant the Kol Nidre, a haunting, plaintive melody at least 600 years old in its present form that represents an absolution for any broken vows between man and God. Those that occur between man and man are not forgiven by the recitation of the Kol Nidre Prayer but by direct resolution between the parties involved.

The Schedule of Services of the Yom Kippur Day, a day of feasting and repentance, Sept. 26 will begin at 8:30 a.m. and will continue with the Torah Service, the Yiskor (Memorial) Service, the Musaf, Mincha and Ne'ilah Services in the afternoon and the concluding Ma'ariv and Havdallah Services beginning at 5:45 p.m.

Lorraine Heath

Mrs. James Morino, who does a terrific job of public relations for the Daly City Girl Scouts, has just called to my attention that there is still time for volunteers to step forward and offer to assist with the Girl Scout program in this area.

Tomorrow evening at 7:30 p.m. there will be a new leader orientation meeting in Hope Lutheran Church and following that there will be new leader training sessions on Tuesday and Thursday, Sept. 24 and 26, at the same place. The orientation will begin at 7:30 p.m. and be over at approximately 9:30 p.m. The training sessions will be held from 9:30 a.m. until 11:30 a.m.

Needed are people who like young people. In addition to troop leaders, there is a need for drivers, cookie sale captains, "supply officers," or standby general helpers. Mrs. Virginia Nowicki, 756-3532, is the volunteer coordinator and she would love to hear from anyone with some time and talent to share.

MRS. JOSEPH Vollert, the chairwoman of the Westlake Catholic Women's "Luncheon Is Served" on Sept. 26, has announced the names of the women who are helping with the arrangements for the fall money raiser.

Mrs. Michael Lloyd is the co-chairwoman and committeewomen are Mrs. Richard Murphy, Mrs. George Zaits, Mrs. Alexander MacCallum, Mrs. Gerald Ahlbach, Mrs. Henry Soldati, Mrs. John Loughran and Mrs. James McCann.

Among those who will be serving as hostess are Mrs. Robert Celini, Mrs. Gerald O'Connell, Mrs. Garrett McDonald, Mrs. Richard Corso, Mrs. James Hampton, Mrs. Robert Rickert, Mrs. John McNulty, Mrs. James Garvey and Mrs. George San Pietro.

According to Mrs. James Dougherty, publicity chairwoman, the committee has arranged for a three course, sit down meal in the parish hall at noon on Sept. 26. Tickets, costing $3 per person, will be sold until Sept. 24. Contact Mrs. Vollert, 756-2957 or Mrs. Lloyd, 994-1646, for reservations or information.

THE MARY'S HELP Hospital Guild will meet Sept. 20, instead of next week according to Mrs. Jerry Stringer, publicity chairwoman for the guild.

Aside from the meeting date all other arrangements for the business session will follow the normal pattern. The tray favors committee and the executive board will meet at 10:30 a.m. and the luncheon and general meeting will be held at 12:30 p.m. in the solarium.

Mrs. Fran Gaffigan, guild president, will preside and she will be assisted by Mrs. Norman Cyr, newly installed vice president who has replaced Mrs. Eugene O'Donnel. Mrs. O'Donnel resigned recently.

Topics for consideration will be the Stonestown Festival of Good Causes on Tuesday and Wednesday of next week and the Mary's Help Hospital Guild Day at Serramonte Shopping Center calendared for Oct. 2.

MEMBERS OF the Fifty Plus Club in Pacifica are reminded that the regular monthly evening meeting will be held on Tuesday, Sept. 24, at 7:45 p.m. in the Linda Mar branch of the Pacifica library, Hilton at Palmetto Avenue.

MRS. JOHN McCLOSKY, vice president of the Holy Angels Women's Guild, is taking reservations for the Guild's Communion Breakfast to be held Oct. 6.

The breakfast, at the Cypress Hills Country Club, will follow the 9 a.m. Mass at Holy Angels Catholic Church.

Deadline for reservations is Oct. 2, according to Mrs. David Rushka, publicity chairwoman. More information is available to anyone calling Mrs. McCloskey.

FIFTEEN-YEAR-OLD Vicky Morino, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Morino of Daly City, is the charming new queen of the Dolphin Swimming and Boating Club!

Vicky, who is a member of the Jefferson High swimming team, will reign over the spectator boat trip and will present trophies to the approximately 50 or so swimmers who will be TAKING part in the cross bay swim on Oct. 20.

For the uninitiated, the Golden Gate Swim is a fantastic event with people coming from all over the United States to take part in the endurance trial. (Some of the swimmers admit to being in their seventies!) Vicky's father will be competing against the cold, the tide and the wind for the twenty-sixth time. According to proud Mama Roz, it is such an important event Vicky may even discard her jeans and wear a dress for the occasion!

Localities who might enjoy seeing one of our own girls take part in the festivities will be able to purchase tickets at Pier 43½ beginning at 8 o'clock on the morning of Oct. 20.

MRS. EUGENE CRANDALL was the hostess at a luncheon in her home for Mrs. Lisa Moss of London. Mrs. Moss has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Jack Mihalovich, for the past two months.

In addition to the honoree and her daughter, those attending included Mrs. Jerry Stringer, Mrs. Charles Poggio, Mrs. Christine Hodges, Mrs. Konstantinous Poulos, Mrs. Murray Freedman, Mrs. Donald Piercy, Mrs. Aldo Mori and Mrs. Bart Concannon.

Guesting at the Crandall home is Mrs. Daphne Fellowes of England. Mrs. Fellowes and Mrs. Crandall worked as librarians together in Coventry during World War II and they are busily reviewing the events of the years that have passed since they were co-workers.

Mrs. Fellowes is now retired and has just purchased a Georgian home in Moreton-in-Marsh in the Cotswolds, one of England's famous beauty spots. She will spend a month with the Crandall family before returning home.

NELL NORTON

Good morning, good cooks.

Before the apple season ends I want to share one more recipe. This is a Bake-Off prize winner and combines fresh apples with a topping of nuts and coconut to make a tasty cookie or dessert.

APPLE HARVEST SQUARES

1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1/3 cup sugar
¾ teaspoon salt
½ cup butter
4 cups pared, sliced apples
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1/3 cup sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon

Sift together the one and one-half cups flour, one-third cup sugar and three-fourths teaspoon salt into a mixing bowl. Cut in the one-half cup butter until particles are fine. Press into bottom of 13x9-inch pan.

Arrange the four cups sliced apples over base. Sprinkle with two tablespoons lemon juice. Combine the one-third cup sugar and one teaspoon cinnamon and sprinkle over apples. Bake at 375 degrees for 20 minutes.

TOPPING

½ cup sugar
1 unbeaten egg
1/3 evaporated milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
¾ cup chopped walnuts
1 1/3 cups (34 oz. can) flaked coconut

Combine the half cup sugar, one unbeaten egg, one-third cup evaporated milk, one teaspoon vanilla, three-fourths cup chopped nuts and one and one-third cups coconut.

At the end of the 20-minute baking time, remove the apples from oven and spoon the topping over all. Return to oven and bake at 375 degrees 25 to 30 minutes longer until golden brown.

Makes 2 dozen.

Apple Harvest Squares may be cut in 2-inch squares and served as a cookie. Or, cut in 4-inch squares and top with ice cream for dessert. Serve warm or cold.

This thrifty macaroni and cheese dish was created in the test kitchens for the California Milk Advisory Board. The time and effort saving trick here eliminates the step of boiling the paste separately in hot water.

SAUCEPAN MACARONI AND CHEESE

3 cups milk
2 tablespoons butter
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 teaspoons dry mustard
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
1½ cups elbow macaroni (6 ounces)
2 cups grated sharp cheddar cheese
Cheddar cheese and parsley garnish

Heat the three cups milk, two tablespoons butter, one and one-half teaspoons salt, one-fourth teaspoon pepper, two teaspoons dry mustard and one tablespoon instant onion. Stir occasionally until it comes to boil. Stir in the one and one-half cups macaroni and return to boil. Simmer, stirring constantly, 12 minutes or until macaroni is tender. Add cheese stirring until melted. Garnish with sliced cheese and parsley. Serve promptly. Makes 1 quart, enough for 4 servings.

GRAND BALLROOM LUNCHEON

Lawyers' Wives Set Three Coffee Tours

The Lawyers' Wives of San Mateo are initiating their annual membership festivities. This year, under the direction of Mrs. Robert Dilts, three coffees will be held following tours of the San Mateo County District Courts.

Mrs. John Rubens of San Carlos, president of the organization, and the executive board, which includes Mrs. James Scholz of Millbrae, and Mrs. Donald Del Grande of San Bruno, decided to introduce members and prospective members to the Court Tour Program headed by Mrs. Thomas Caldwell of San Mateo.

The first tour and coffee will be held Sept. 18. The group will meet at 12:15 p.m. at the Central District Court, 800 N. Humboldt St., San Mateo. Coffee and dessert will follow at the home of Mrs. Xenophon Tragoutsis of San Mateo.

The second tour and coffee will be Sept. 24, at 9:30 a.m. After touring the Southern District Court, beginning at the Hall of Justice and Records in Redwood City, coffee will be served at the home of Mrs. Frank Hannig of Woodside.

The third tour and coffee will be held Oct. 2, at 9:30 a.m. at the Northern District Court, 1050 Mission Rd., South San Francisco. Coffee will follow at the home of Mrs. Nick Elchinoff of Millbrae.

All wives of lawyers in San Mateo are invited to the three membership functions. Contact Mrs. James Courshon (349-3412) or Mrs. Paul Wilkins (342-2660) for details.

Suicide Prevention Conference Planned

Friday, Sept. 27, an all day workshop titled "Cooperative Care: The Key to Suicide Prevention" will be held at Mary's Help Hospital, Daly City.

According to the Reverend Austin Peter Keegan, hospital chaplain, the workshop is designed to provide a forum for the exchange of information and knowledge among people concerned about suicide.

Presented by Mary's Help Hospital in cooperation with the Suicide Prevention Center of San Mateo County, the workshop is part of a continuing program of community education and involvement.

Speakers will discuss suicide prevention as it relates to General Medicine, Pastoral Care, Social Work-Psychology, Nursing and Psychiatry. After lunch, "Quiet Cries," a "Play for Living" dramatic presentation, will be performed with a discussion following.

By taking a multi-faceted approach to the problem of suicide, it is hoped that program participants will become aware of the interrelationships between various disciplines in the prevention of suicide," Father Keegan stated. One of the workshop's goals is to foster cooperation and instill a sense of responsibility for interaction between various professions.

During the workshop, audience participation will be encouraged, and ample time for questioning the speakers has been allotted.

For details on the Suicide Prevention workshop, contact Father Keegan at 992-4000, Extension 422.

'How to Publish a Book' Class Planned

The steps and expenses necessary to get a book on any subject into print will be discussed in the Skyline College Community Services offering How To Publish Your Own Book. This five part series will be held on Saturdays at 10 a.m. starting Sept. 23, in the Millbrae Library.

One unit of college credit is available for this course which will examine such topics as problems of breaking into print, layout and copy-editing, getting copy camera-ready and getting bids.

Skyline College instructor Raymond Barrio, who has had six books published himself, will conduct the course. The fee for the class is $12.

Course reservation forms can be found in Community Services brochures which are available at libraries in the North County. Interested persons may also register at the Main Theatre Box Office on campus weekdays between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Chinese Brush Painting Featured at Periwinkle

Two Pacifica artists are featured at Periwinkle Art Gallery, Pedro Point, Pacifica through Oct. 13. Chinese brush paintings by Emerald Jade Chao are combined with pencil renderings by Dema Savage.

Emerald Jade Chao was trained in China in the classical style of brush painting. Technique could only be achieved with a strong knowledge of the classics. She graduated from the University of Shanghai. In 1949, Emerald left her native Peking for a 10-year stay in Taiwan. She lived in the Philippines several years before joining friends in Florida.

Ms. Chao has had one woman shows in Florida, Missouri, Oklahoma, Montana, San Francisco, Berkeley and San Mateo.

Emerald lives with her husband Richard Krebs who is employed by Stanford Research Institute.

Emerald will teach a class in brush painting at Periwinkle Art Gallery in mid October. Anyone wishing to join the class may call the gallery at 359-5230 between 12 and 6 p.m.

Dema Savage has drawn her interpretation of family portraits including formal views of an 1880 man, a group of four children looking a littel unsure of themselves, "Mama, Auntie and Willard," a telling portrait of an over indulged boy and several more characterizations.

Ms. Savage came from Oklahoma to California with her family during the depression. During her years in Porterville, she was active with the Barn Theatre group. Dema is interested in acting and once worked in a Los Angeles radio station.

Among her varied jobs and activities, Dema bicycled 1,000 miles from New York through Montreal, Quebec and Maine. She worked for Claude A. Watson, presidential candidate on the Prohibitionist ticket. She worked for many savings and loan companies and became manager of one branch.

Ms. Savage has always pursued knowledge. She attended many schools prior to her marriage to Mark 20 years ago. Last June Dema graduated cum laude from California State University at San Francisco.

Dema resides with her husband Mark, director of Pacifica's Youth Service Bureau. They have four children. Dema now works for a bioenergetic therapist.

Anniversary Marked At Surprise Dinner

Fifty years of marriage were marked recently by Mr. and Mrs. Howard Knoll of Belmont who were honored on the occasion at a surprise dinner party at the Shadows' Restaurant.

The party was given by the couple's three children: Robert Knoll of South San Francisco, Donald Knoll of Mountain View and Marilyn Pfaff of San Bruno. Guests included the couple's seven grandchildren and a few close friends. Among the latter was Mrs. Thelma Peterson of Mountain View, who served as the maid of honor at the couple's wedding.

The former Marie Scully and Howard Knoll were married at St. Agnes Church in their native San Francisco on Aug. 18, 1924. Former longtime residents of San Francisco, they moved to the Peninsula nine years ago.

Prior to this retirement, Knoll worked as a Teamster. He has been active in the Young Men's Institute in San Bruno and his wife belongs to the Portola Parlor of the Native Daughters of the Golden West in San Francisco.

Peacocking Blacks

"It is not
it is not
it is not enough
it is not enough to be free to bulldoze gods squatters from their tunes, from their relics and from the tombs of drums."

"It is not enough
to pray to Barclays bankers on the telephone to Jesus Christ by short wave radio
to the United States marines by rattling your hip bones."

"I must be given words to shape my name
to the syllables of trees

I must be given words to refashion futures
like a healer's hands."

Edward Brathwaite

From all over the United States, and from the islands of the Carribbean comes the voices of Black People as the race contemplates its future.

The voices say that Black People are disstaisfied with present conditions. Thus they shout with the poet EXUMA:

"Snythetic woman and
Synthetic man,
Hating and loving,'
In a plastic land
Plastic smile on their Face
Plastic gonna choke the Human race,
Don't slurp your soup,
Move in a group,
They don't talk loud
The man dies young
And the woman stays Old."

But how do Black People move from the plastic world?

Robert Ware declared in a letter to Ebony Magazine that there must be an end to "peacocking blacks." He writes, "After several years of stage prancing, I'd say it is now time for the black male to become man again . . . The black male is literally strutting around on stage as though the most important thing on earth is his physical beauty . . . more correctly, his surface adornment."

"I ask you," he continues, "how long the peacocking, brothers? How the long the playing of superstud? How long the child neglect, the woman neglect, the self-neglect?"

"What society has ever survived on trivial vanity? 'Not vanity man,' you say, 'but racial pride.' Racial pride my brother, is shown in racial survival. How long can our race survive on trivial vanity? Think on it!"

Echoing Mr. Ware's thoughts a white friend of black men asks what being black means. "Does it mean being rude to those with white skins; making a spectacle of oneself; dapping with a 'brother' on every street corner; wearing mis-matched and often overpriced 'Super Fly' clothes and in general trying to be so much a part of the black scene, that whites feel totally alienated and turned-off."

Some of the same sentiments may be found in an article in the September "Ebony" by Dr. Frances Welsing, Psychiatrist and also in the "Fashion Fair" section of the same periodical.

Yet the voices of some blacks call for more black identity. "Everyone knows," writes Caren Lewis, "that the prisons were erected to house the blacks and poor people of this nation. I, for one, have not forgotten Attica. What can we, the concerned black men and women, do to aid the courageous black men?"

In a poem called "Transition" Audvil King speaks for many blacks:

"White legs beckoning
subconscious urges repulsing conscious thoughts
gyrating, whito-balling-
mystifying emotions . . .
Feelings — Not wite
at all, not black.
Feelings — Negro feelings,
slave — minus — chains feeling
Not — me feelings."

How can a black man feel himself and "rise firm" is the question that occupies the pens of many who speak to and for black Americans. Their dilemma is pin-pointed by June Doiley in the "Journal of Black Poetry."

"Tell me how it feels
To be nodoby
To have no-one
To have nowhere
To have a white man's heart beating within a black skin
To be caught in a world where fantasy and reality
fight for a control of your mind
Tell me how it feels to sell a black brother."

Brother Anandamoy will hold a free lecture on the science of Yoga Sept. 29 at 3 p.m. at the Holiday Inn, 625 El Camino Real in Palo Alto. His subject will be "Your Inner Environment." On Wednesday, Oct. 2 at 8:15 p.m., Brother Anandamoy will speak in San Jose at the Montgomery Theatre, Civic Auditorium, 145 San Carlos, on "How to Achieve Peace of Mind."

An international lecturer and a direct disciple of Paramahansa Yogananda, Brother Anandamoy will discuss the universal as well as the esoteric aspects of this spiritual science.

He says: "European philosophy and the new-world schools of psychology have drawn heavily from eastern sources. But strangely enough, no modern system has taken from the East what is most essential and vital — its science of Yoga.

"Yoga, which means 'scientific union,' is a definite system of concentration, meditation and exercise by means of which the Self (a reflection of God) can consciously realize the experience of blissful union with the omnipresent Spirit."

Perpetual Help Church Plans Tagalog Mass

Rev. John Mullen, Pastor of Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church, 60 Wellington Ave., Daly City, invites the public to attend a Tagalog mass Sept. 28, 5:30 p.m.

Tagalog masses are celebrated every last Saturday of the month, according to Father Mullen.

The Tagalog mass will be offered by Rev. Fred Bitanga, Associate Pastor of St. Patrick's Church in San Francisco. The springly and joyful Filipino hymns are led by the Filipino Sisters of St. Paul's Parish. More singers are needed to swell the enthusiastic choir, and an invitation is extended to one and all musically inclined persons to join with the sisters.

Marcelino Enriquez, president of the Filipino/American Association of Northern San Mateo County, sponsors of the monthly Tagalog masses, asks all Fili- pino-Americans and others to attend the monthly masses and join in the modern-day hymns in the vernacular.

Rev. John Mullen also extends an invitation to all to attend the weekly Friday evening devotions at 7 p.m. to Our Lady of Perpetual Help. The name Our Lady of Perpetual Help was given to this mission-style church in Daly City, formerly known as St. Maximus Church, in the early thirties, due to the large following Our Blessed Mother enjoyed since 1925, when the church was built.

MARINE CORPS

Marine Pfc. Karl H. Fairchild, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Fairchild of 408 Dolores, South San Francisco, completed Infantry Training School at the Marine Corps Base, Camp Pendleton, Calif. He received specialized instruction in infantry weapons and tactics.

Conservationists Are Unhappy

Hearing Set on SSF Shoreline Regional Park

Protests from conservationists have caused revision of plans to reduce the proposed size of the future South San Francisco Shoreline Regional Park.

City officials plan to make it larger, however, some conservationists are still unhappy.

The matter is expected to be resolved at the 2 p.m. Oct. 3 Bay Conservation and Development Commission meeting in San Francisco.

The Shoreline Regional Park exists only in the city's General Plan, filed at the South San Francisco City Hall, and in the BCDC Bay Plan.

The shape of the future park may be seen in the 50-acre Oyster Point Marina Park, which includes a yacht harbor and a small beach. The rest of the project, including Belle Air Island, is in private ownership.

As originally proposed in 1972, the park would follow the shoreline from the old shipyard near Bayshore Freeway, around Oyster Point and down to the San Francisco Airport, skipping one developed area.

Early this year, Cabot, Cabot & Forbes notified the city it wished to develop an eight-acre shoreline site, near Bayshore Freeway, for a trucking firm headquarters. The development firm, blocked by BCDC, asked the City Council's help.

In a special meeting, the council voted to ask BCDC to delete the eight acres from its designation on its Bay Plan as "waterfront park, beach." A council spokesman explained the city was investing heavily in development of the Oyster Point Marina, and — on the other hand — could not afford to buy the land for the Shoreline Regional Park at costs which could add up to millions.

City Manager Ed Alario wrote the BCDC, last June, that the recent marina study showed the property suitable only for industrial uses and was inappropriately included in the park area. The proposed use, he wrote, therefore would "be compatible with and in the spirit of the adopted General Plan for the City of South San Francisco."

Alario added, "Although on the surface this zoning designation (heavy manufacturing district) appears to be in conflict with the park proposals of the General Plan, the City has taken steps to re-evaluate the zoning and the General Plan in this area."

Meanwhile, the Save the Bay Association and other conservationists learned of the plan and contacted BCDC.

According to a spokesman for Save the Bay, the members believe a trucking firm is not an appropriate use for a picturesque shoreline.

The BCDC staff invited South San Francisco officials to a conference, and South San Francisco officials developed a new plan, to be considered Oct. 3.

Under South San Francisco's new plan:

—Instead of deleting eight acres from the park plan, 16½ acres would be deleted. This would include a small peninsula west of Oyster Point Marina, owned by Healy-Tibbers, and includes the Siemer Ship Repair Co. Although now for sale, the city says it cannot afford to buy this land.

—CC&F has agreed to provide a 100-foot wide band, running 2,450 feet south from the marina, as well as a 100-foot wide band around the proposed trucking terminal.

—A similar band of land would be provided around the Healy-Tibbetts peninsula, except that it would be 200 feet wide where it faces Oyster Point Marina, should the city want the land for future marina enlargement.

The band of land includes fishing spots, as well as some salt marsh and filled areas. The new linear park would be made accessible to the public, by trails and roads, some of them leading off from CC&F's parking lots.

The new plan includes nothing about Belle Air Island and other nearby land proposed for shoreline park use by the old city plan. That may come later.

The major complaint against the new plan is that it still would permit the trucking plant to be sited on land with a view of the bay — but the BCDC has no control over land more than 100 feet from the bay.

Meanwhile, a public hearing must be held to settle the rezoning which the plan will entail. It is scheduled for the South San Francisco Planning Commission on Sept. 24.

To be considered will be an amendment to the general plan changing the boundaries of the Shoreline Regional Park, as well as a rezoning to open space of those areas to be designated for the park, so as to preserve them from future development.

Planned for the bayside site are two buildings, one for repair work and the other for warehousing. Some 60 trucks a day of the Di Salvo Trucking Co. will be coming and going from the site.

Roses Are True

That Sacramento Bee newspaper reporter who stirred a controversy last week when she reported that San Mateo County's floral exhibit at the State Fair was comprised of plastic flowers has confessed her sins.

The report resulted, she said, in many phone calls of complaint, as well as a letter from Mrs. Jean Fassler, chairwoman of the Board of Supervisors, who declared flatly that San Mateo County is not a plastic world.

The reporter, Barbara Hooper, responded to Mrs. Fassler this way:

"A thousand apologies for the broken hearts in San Mateo County. Of all the counties to do this to, it would be one that really outdid itself in the State Fair exhibit department.

"If it helps any, I have indeed suffered for this journalistic accident. You wouldn't believe how many calls. I've gone so far as to have my eyes examined. They are fine, so I can only plead fatigue. After two hours of note-taking on 37 exhibits, nothing looks real.

"I can hardly, however, expect the good flower and plant lovers of San Mateo County to easily recover from this. As you know, we did run a correction (in the Bee). I know you can feel confident that everyone else who saw the lovely exhibit recognized reality, and the memory of such beauty will linger long in the minds of fairgoers."

Oh yes, the REAL flowers won San Mateo County first prize—again.

Involvement at All Levels

United Crusade Kicks Off Campaign

The United Bay Area Crusade has officially kicked off its 1974 campaign and San Mateo residents are involved on virtually all levels . . . from Campaign Chairman Gordon Hough to the girl's gymnast team from the Sequoia YMCA in Redwood City. The girls participated in UBAC kickoff ceremonies during halftime show of a recent 49er/Raider football game.

The spirit of the overall campaign in San Mateo County is high, according to County Chairman Ed Johnson.

Johnson has recruited Tom Newman (Bell Savings & Loan) as his special propsects chairman; John Jones (Bank of America) to head the commereial division, and Phyllis Sanor Molinari, who will direct the Residential effort.

Major employers group chairman, Charles Anderson of Stanford Research took time out from a recent business trip to Russia to arrange long-distance for the recruitment of vice chairmen.

There are some 50 agencies receiving UBAC funds in San Mateo County and many others whose services are available to local residents.

A total of 38 UBAC agency representatives from the county participated in the Sept. 2 kickoff ceremonies.

Some 13 agencies set up booths in the mall of Tanforan Shopping Center, Sept. 14 and 15.

Jim Callahan of the South San Francisco Boys' Club has coordinated the event. He is executive director of the UBAC agency, and when campaign time comes around, Callahan takes a major role in raising funds.

Last year he spearheaded a one day drive for small businesses in the north county. This year, he made arrangements for the Tanforan display and has planned two days of informative UBAC exhibits as well as entertainment including folk dancing and gymnast teams from UBAC supported agencies.

Callahan has named the event, "What is a UBAC?"

In tribute to the outstanding efforts of San Mateo County volunteers, Campaign Chairman Gordon Hough has a personal answer to that question.

"UBAC," says Hough, "is as strong as its volunteers. In one way or another, literally thousands of people from this county participate in the United Crusade. Volunteer fund raisers, budget panelists, Directors and Trustees, people who sit on agency boards, agency professionals and other volunteers — these people and the improvement of this community are what UBAC is all about."

Last year UBAC raised $16,209,000. This year, responding to the actual documented requests of agencies plagued with increasing costs and the press of inflation, campaign leadership has set a goal of $21,000,000. This means a 30 per cent increase across the board to maintain current levels of service.

San Mateo County campaign leadership is working hard to reach this goal.

Crestmoor P-TA Holds Back to School Lunch

Crestmoor Elementary PTA held its annual "Back to School Luncheon" at noon Sept. 4 in the school auditorium.

On the roster of honored guests were principal Dr. Carlos M. Montandon and faculty and staff members. Also in attendance were administrators from the San Bruno Park School District including Associate Supts. F.H. Jackson and Dr. Robert Rottman, administrative assistant Robert Barron, and school psychologist Dale Hecht.

A pot-luck lunch was served by PTA officers and chairmen. Table decorations included floral arrangements, and the district theme, "Behold the lowly turtle who makes progress only by sticking out his neck," completed the motif with green, yellow and orange "turtle" placecards and candles.

Dr. Montandon welcomed everyone back for the school year and introduced past president Gene May and president Pat Fournier, who commended the executive board and personnel for their cooperation in school activities.

ENDS TRAINING

Navy Reservist Lieutenant Carter C. Beise, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Beise of 420 El Cerrito Ave., Hillsborough, recently completed his annual active duty training aboard the destroyer USS Carpenter.

Volunteers Wanted

The following agencies have requested volunteer assistance from the Volunteer Bureau/Voluntary Action Center of San Mateo County with offices in Burlingame and Redwood City.

Friendly Visiting — Concerned and caring people are desperately needed to visit the elderly in their homes or convalescent hospitals in the North County area.

Mental Health Association — Volunteers are wanted to help in the Daly City Friendship Center which works with people recovering from mental illness. The group plays cards and other games, works on craft projects and goes on outings.

Service League of San Mateo County — Volunteers are wanted as Family Visitors to befriend and work with the families of the people in jail in the new Daly City branch office.

Additional information about these and other volunteer opportunities may be obtained by contacting the Volunteer Bureau, 119 Primrose Road, Burlingame, phone 342-0801. A project of the Assistance League of San Mateo County, the Bureau shares in the United Crusade.

Women Against Rape Formed in County

In response to growing community concern with the treatment of rape victims, a new group has been formed called San Mateo Women Against Rape.

The organization's goals include a 24-hour hotline, self-defense and community education. Starting in November, services will be available to all county women.

To raise funds for their project, members are sponsoring a Feminist Film Festival on Oct. 18 at the College of San Mateo.

Forcible rape headed the 1973 list of crime increase in the United States with 10 per cent more cases reported in that year than the previous one. In San Mateo County, there were 156 reported rapes last year. These statistics may not reflect the total number of rapes committed in the country since the Federal Bureau of Investigation estimates that only 10 per cent are reported.

The San Mateo Women Against Rape advocate program will be available to help women cope with the problems of sexual assault through emotional support by providing information concerning medical and legal procedures. Additional information about the organization may be obtained by writing San Mateo Women Against Rape, P.O. Box 1883, Burlingame 94010.

African History, Minority Studies Set at JUHSD

The Jefferson Union High School District Adult Education program will offer two new courses this fall.

A course in African-American Origins exploring African history and its importance to Americans of every origin will be offered from 7 to 10 p.m. every Tuesday evening at Jefferson High School, Room 203. The course will be both academic and activity oriented with films, speakers and food, music and dance from Africa included.

Minorities in America will concentrate on present lifestyles and viewpoints among American minority groups from the Bay Area. Communities studied will include Black Americans, Spanish-speaking Americans, Oriental Americans, Jewish Americans and Americans of Eastern and Western European origins.

Members of the class will be able to determine which groups will be studied in the greatest depth. The course will include field trips, speakers and films. Offered at Serramonte High School in Room 103, from 7 to 10 Wednesday evenings, the course will begin today.

Mrs. Marilyn Ream, the instructor for both courses, has a Masters in Art in African History with a background in Swahili from U.C.L.A. She has led a voluntary work project in Ghana, West Africa, and has studied and taught both African History and Minority Studies at Serramonte High School for the past four years.

Registration will take place in class. For details call 755-1169.

Coastal Commission Report

There's Not Enough Beach for all of Us

By JACK BIK

There is not enough beach for everyone.

That is the major conclusion of a report which was studied in a public meeting in Pacifica last week by the Central Coast Regional Coastal Zone Conservation Commission.

The report being studied eventually will become the Recreation Element of the Coastal Plan, to govern the future of California's coastline.

The lack of beach space, the report cites, can be shown by these typical events:

✓The boater who is overjoyed at getting a berthing space hours from home after two years on a waiting list.

✓The family outing which ends in disappointment because there is no place to park, picnic or camp near the beach.

✓The swimmer who feels endangered by power boats, surfers or polluted water.

The study cites a series of facts, showing that less than half of the demand for coastline campsites is being met, all the new berthing spaces planned for the next five to 10 years will barely cover the existing demand.

✓Rapid increases can be expected in many other seaside activities, such as fishing, underwater diving, nature study, photography and painting, walking, hiking, biking, and riding.

Recreational resources must be developed — but many problems arise insuch fulfilling the goal. The report cities the conflicts between different kinds of activities. It urges discouragement of any major change of the natural coastal environment for a specific pursuit, but that a variety of areas be provided so that conflicting uses can be accommodated in separated areas.

In addition, residential development has hampered recreational uses of the coastline.

In developing the coast for recreation, limits must be placed on over-use of areas where sensitive wildlife, marine animal or sea life areas may be disturbed, as well as areas where too many people would spoil the recreation potential altogether.

The report urges that recreation use of the beaches be spread by encouraging off-peak use, by rationing peak use and by diverting the public to use less-frequented areas and other kinds of recreation "which will not degrade the environment or the quality of experience of others." One such suggestion is the naturalist-supervised guided walks.

Of high priority would be providing other means of access to the beach than the automobile, which demands wider roads and bigger parking lots, and causes pollution.

To preserve the beaches, the commission staff urges that such support facilities, as parking lots and maintenance facilities be sited upland. Types of recreation not requiring shoreline location can also be moved inland, such as RV camping, golf and field sports, hotels, motels, restaurants and shops. Small-scale transportation systems, pedestrian and bicycle trails can link these support facilities to the beaches.

Two seemingly controversial roposals are made in regard to public access.

The staff urges steps be taken to open up all beach areas to public use, even where presently blocked by private development, and that beach areas should be redefined so as to include all land below the vegetation line, taking in all the dry beach areas. Presently, only the beach up to high tide is considered public property.

An exception to public access may be made where the ecology is too fragile to be exposed to the public; in such cases, all development should be banned.

While noting the great need for more small boat harbors, the commission staff cautions against locating such harbors "at the expense of sensitive natural habitats, such as wetlands and dune areas." The berth shortage can be alleviated by dry storage and launching facilities.

Copies of the full report are available for preview, by citizens, at the Pacifica, Daly City and Half Moon Bay libraries, and at Skyline College Library.

What You Can and Can't See in Films Discussed

Film censorship in its many guises will be analyzed in an eight-week evening series of lectures and films presented by UC-Berkeley Extension starting Oct. 2 at the UC campus. The series, entitled "You Can't Show That," will be held on Wednesdays from 7 to 10 p.m. in 145 Dwinelle Hall, with David A. Steiner, a lawyer and film writer and producer, as coordinator.

Forms of censorship to be studied range from state and local statuets and Supreme Court decisions to import laws, licensing requirements, economic pressure and the use of distribution systems to block the exhibition of films. Among the films to be shown are "I am Curious (Yellow)." "Sweet Sweetback's Badassss Song," "Salt of the Earth," "The Murder of Fred Hampton" and "The Harder They Come."

The Silent Revolution In Art Set

The Silent Revolution in Art, a period which embraced the rise of French Impressionism in Paris during the last century, will be the subject of a six-part credit course beginning Sept. 25, at Westmoor High School in Daly City.

Under the auspices of Skyline College's Community Services Office, this offering will be taught by Doris Fox who has led a number of student tours to Europe and has also taught French Art of American students both here and in France.

The impressionist period which gave the word "bohemian" a new dimension produced such great maverick artists, as Van Gogh, Renoir, Monet and Degas. Students enrolling in this course will learn about the artists' lives and loves and how they were to change the entire art world.

Course reservation forms can be found in Community Services brochures which are available at libraries in the North County. Interested persons also may register at the Main Theatre Box Office on campus weekdays between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Commissioners Approve Budget

EOC Rejects Stipends for Attending Meetings

Members of the county's Economic Opportunity Commission Thursday night voted against asking the Board of Supervisors to give them a $10 a month "stipends" for attending meetings.

The Rev. Albert Williams, a representative of the poor in the East Menlo Park area, suggested some of the low income representatives on the commission could use the extra money.

"Ten dollars a month means a lot when you are poor," The Reverend Williams told the commission.

Commissioner Moses Guillory of Daly City suggested the $10 a month amount at a meeting in the Department of Public Health and Welfare building in San Mateo. He said if a commissioner did not need the money he could donate it to one of the EOC's programs.

James L. Frear, who is San Mateo's representative on the commission, said the commission was talking about some $240 a month which would have to be taken away from some poverty program.

Mrs. Helen S. Kerwin of Atherton, who was elected commission chairman by one vote over incumbent Mrs. Dolores Randall, said that if the Board of Supervisors approved the proposal, every other county commission could ask for compensation.

The vote against asking for the money was 9 to 6, with one commissioner abstaining.

Edward R. Becks, executive director of the commission, reported he had suggested to County Manager M. D. Tarshes that the commission take over a county manpower program as it is already operating similar programs such as summer work programs for youth.

One alternative would be to create an independent Manpower Commission, which Becks said would be less desirable.

In a move to reorganize the commission, members voted to extend their terms from three to five years, with a limit of two terms for commissioners who are not public officials.

Becks, pointing out that the commission had discussed the possibility of setting up a site in South San Francisco for a Senior Citizens Nutrition program, said the problem is one of budget.

Mrs. Kathy Haney, interim director of the program, reported that several senior citizens who served as workers in the program had to quit because their jobs put their social security in jeopardy.

The commission operates meal centers for senior citizens in San Mateo, Daly City, Redwood City, and a combined center for East Palo Alto and Menlo Park.

Becks reported it costs 65 cents a meal if "raw food" is purchased and cooked by staff members, or $1.30 if meals are provided by a catering service. He said no additional funds are available for the program now.

Commissioners approved a $270,547 budget for the program.

Harbor Board Hopeful Loses Decision

A judge ruled Friday that potential County Harbor District candidate Robert Caughlan's nomination papers did not conform with provisions of the election code, thus Caughlan cannot be listed on the Nov. 5 ballot.

Superior Court Judge Robert E. Carey rendered the decision following a 90-minute presentation by Caughlan's attorney, Fred Lyon, and the Harbor District attorney, James M. Dennis.

The Harbor District had refused to accept Caughlan's nomination papers on the basis that he failed to list any verification deputies for securing of signatures, as well as other deletion of requirements.

Caughlan, 31, said afterwards that the deletions were "minor technicalities."

The judge said that every effort should be made to see that a candidate can run for office, but that at the same time the state legislature has determined "proper procedures to be followed by candidates."

THE POST'S SPORTS

Le Pacini

Principles

We suppose it was too much to hope for George Allen to stick to his "principles" and carry through with his sacking of Duane Thomas.

But then Allen will never let principles get in the way when winning is at stake, so he took Thomas back, after apparently first assuring assistant coach Charlie Waller that forgiving Thomas for shoving him into a wall, calling him a racist and threatening to beat him up, would not only make Waller sleep better at night, but might even bring Allen a Super Bowl win.

We had initially admired Allen for his first reaction after the incident of summarily dismissing Thomas, even though he realized, he admitted, that such an action could hurt chances for that long sought-after championship. After a year of adjusting to the Redskin system, Thomas was at a point where he could be an important cog in the Washington offense.

But then Allen, in what he described as his "toughest decision ever as a coach," reneged, and reinstated Thomas exactly a week after his dismissal.

"My first consideration was for the team," (interpret as "for Allen"), said George. "Duane . . . has made so much progress I wanted to give him a second chance."

To be fair, Allen's decision might have been that unselfish, and indeed Allen's move is certainly not without precedent in professional sports.

One of the classic such incidents occurred in 1934, when rookie manager Mickey Cochrane, whose Tigers were battling the Yankees for a pennant late in June (which the Tigers eventaully won), fined outfielder Gerald Walker $50 and suspended him for 10 days for being caught off base twice on successive throws, and then kicked him off the team when he later discovered Walker in the hotel lobby, laughing and joking with a group of fans.

THE TIGERS had lost a close, tough game as the result of Walker's carelessness, and Cochrane, under the double pressure of also being quite possibly Detroit's most valuable player, later reconsidered, realizing he had possibly over-reacted to a situation which wasn't really that serious, and because he personally liked Walker.

Cochrane devised a plan perhaps unparalleled in the history of pro sports. Because Walker was a .300 hitter who could help bring World Series checks to more than 20 other players, Cochrane, unlike Allen, decided that the players should have a voice in Walker's future. He had a clubhouse meeting, explained the circumstances to the team, handed each player a piece of blank paper, and told them to secretly write either a "yes" or "no" on it, the "yes" to

Balboa Stuns Rams

Westmoor High's football team suffered from two shocks this week.

First, star back Rob Baptista quit; he's going to concentrate on baseball.

Then, Friday, the Rams were sliced by visiting Balboa of San Francisco in the practice season opener, 50-0.

Balboa, with loads of speed, ran through and around the Rams for long gainers.

Westmoor didn't complete a pass all day, and committed eight turnovers.

Regents Drop Home Opener

Serramonte High dropped its non-conference season opener 12-7 Saturday at home against Cardinal Newman High of Santa Rosa.

The hosts' lone touchdown was scored by Skip Campbell on a five-yard run in the third quarter. He gained 75 yards on 18 carries.

Jefferson Falcons Win On Early Tallies

Jefferson High's football team should have known it was in for a long afternoon Friday when the officials for its game with Crestmoor in San Bruno didn't show.

Crestmoor coach Johnny Browne managed to get four volunteers to ref the game (including Crestmoor athletic director Chuck Kent).

Crestmoor started like a house afire, taking advantage of Indian miscues (and there were a lot of them) to put two scores back to back within 30 seconds. But, aside from a safety, that was the game — the Falcons took the practice opener 14-0.

On Jeff's first possession, quarterback Mark Rudd fumbled the snap and the Falcons were in business on the Indian 28. Six plays later, John Maxoutopoul went four yards over right tackle for the score.

Jefferson fumbled the ensuing kickoff and junior quarterback Larry Navilhon hit 6-4 wide receiver Mike Newell with a perfect 18 yard scoring pass to make it 12-0.

A second quarter sacking of Rudd in the end zone for a safety ended the day's scoring.

Despite his team's 14 points and a shutout, Falcon coach Johnny Browne wasn't pleased. His team ended up being outgained by Jeff 97-82 and Navilhon was sacked six times for a loss of 55 yards. The Falcons also fumbled three times losing all of those.

But Jefferson did better fumbling eight times and losing all eight.

OPENING DAY VICTORY DANCE

It looks more like something the Rockettes might try, but what Capuchino High defensive backs Kris Martinson (17) and Ron Basques (18) are really doing is colliding after breaking up a Terra Nova pass in Friday's practice season opener. Cap won, 14-6.

Cap Wins; Quick Start

If Capuchino High could play an entire football game the way it played the first six minutes of its practice opener Friday, the Mustangs would be unbeatable and unholy.

The Mustangs came out of the chute in midseason form, rolling 84 yards with nary an error to take a 6-0 lead. Cap stumbled noticeably after that and held on for a 14-6 win over Terra Nova Friday in San Bruno.

The option rollout combination of quarterback Ralph Costanzo to halfback Bob Warfield clicked on seven plays netting 58 yards on that opening drive, as Warfield got outside Terra Nova's line virtually at will.

When Warfield or any other Cap runner tried to go up the middle, from tackle to tackle, it was a different story.

That opening drive had to do until midway into the third period when Costanzo rolled off two weak tackle attempts to slide over right end from the 17 for a 14-0 lead.

The Mustangs gave Terra Nova every conceivable chance to score as they fumbled five times (surrendering four of the bobbles) and coughed up an interception.

But it took Terra Nova till the final 31 seconds of the game to punch over its score, as fullback Tony Balastrasse hit over from the three.

Warfield carried 26 times for 98 yards while Costanzo, in better-than-average preseason form, hit six of his 11 attempts for 84 yards.

Cap gained 125 yards on the ground to Terra Nova's 127, but numerous dropped passes kept the Tigers from being a serious threat.

Sharks Lose

Oceana High, demoralized by a damaging penalty, lost its practice season grid opener to visiting Washington of San Francisco Friday, 12-0.

Oceana held Washington scoreless in the first half. But the Sharks had a second quarter touchdown called back because of a penalty, and couldn't regain momentum. Washington scored a TD in each of the final two quarters.

Camino Vets Top Hillsdale

By STEVE JOHNSON
Post Correspondent

Hillsdale High football coach Ron Anderson didn't have to wait until Friday's practice season opener to know what his main problem this year was going to be.

He knew that back in June, when he scanned the graduation list. Most of the stars who brought the Knights a share of the Mid-Peninsula League title weren't on it.

So, he wasn't too surprised by a 20-6 loss to visiting El Camino.

"We're just very young," said Anderson. "We need a lot of work. A lot of work."

El Camino, on the other hand, was relatively spilling over with veteran players from last year's North Peninsula League championship team.

The Colts, who dominated the game almost the entire way, opened scoring early in the second quarter on a 25-yard pass from Mike Williams to fullback Mike Evans. It was the Colts' only completion of the day, a short flat pass on third and short yardage.

"We'd been running up the middle on them before that, and that kind of anesthetizes the opposition," said Camino coach Tom McCormick. "Of course, I would have looked like a donkey if it hadn't worked."

Later in the half an interception gave Camino the ball on the Hillsdale 17; four plays later John Rivera crashed over from the three.

The Colts wound up their scoring in the final stanza when Frank Gazzano culminated a 54-yard drive with a one-yard scoring plunge.

Hillsdale finally got on the board with 4:25 remaining on a 59-yard pass from Van Batchelder to tight end Hugh Eden.

El Camino handled Hillsdale's line both offensively and defensively; Colt standouts in the trenches were linebacker Bob Cinciolo, tackle Kevin Loeffler and defensive guard Dean Triggas.

El Camino ran off 64 plays to the Knights' 34 in handing Hillsdale its worst loss in three years.

Evans picked up 75 yards in 13 carries. Batchelder threw for 81 yards, but Hillsdale gained only 28 yards on the ground in 19 tries.

El Camino	0	14	0	6—20

SCORING: EC—Evans 25 pass from Williams (kick blocked); EC—Rivera 3 run (Macawile pass from Williams); EC—Gazzano 1 run (kick failed); H—Eden 59 pass from Batchelder (pass failed).

Le Pacini

Principles

mean that they wanted Walker back, the "no" to mean they wanted him to stay home.

Reports are that Walker won by a pretty substantial margin. He was reinstated, but the ending wasn't toally a Cinderella sage. The Tigers lost the World Series to the Gas House Gang in seven games.

FOOTNOTE to that 1934 season. Three-quarters of the starting National League infield in the first-ever All-Star game consisted of playing-managers; Bill Terry of the Giants at first, Frankie Grisch eof the Cards at second, and Pie Traynor of the Pirates at third.

RANDOM BASEBALL THOUGHTS . . . Add to your list of underrated pitchers Baltimore's Mike Cuellar, who is seldom spectacular or publicized, but who over the past five years has won more games than any other hurler on the Orioles' staff of greats . . . We said it last year and we'll say it again, Joe Morgan is an MVP . . . Philadelphia sophomore third baseman, Mike Schmidt might, for this one year at least, be the best player in baseball. Everybody knows about his batting average, homers and RBI's, but few realize that he is a fine defensive player and fast enough to lead the Phillies in stolen bases . . . Cream rises to the top. They said that that operation had hampered Johnny Bench, but look at today's offensive stats on him . . . The Dodgers have such great pitching that not a lot of fans realize that they started slipping when they lost starter Tommy John and reliefer Jim Brewer, not when their batting fell off, which happened later. Which again proves that a team can never have too much pitching . . . Is it just a coincidence that the Giants have been winning since Jim Barr blew his top and accused them of dogging it?

The Giants may have the worst attendance in baseball (410,941, with only Minnesota at 552,137 remotely close), but aren't the only team in trouble. They're 181,518 off last year but the Cubs (298,645), Houston (285,807), Pittsburgh (220,645), the Twins (192,618) and Detroit (187,609), have all lost more.

Of course, with their low attendance the last few years, the Giants can least afford any drop at all. The worrysome factor is that the Twins, the closest comparable to the Giants in attendance figures, are threatening to move.

Closest to the Giants in the NL in low attendance is Montreal, with 774,243. What hurts is that San Diego, with possibly the worst team in baseball, is drawing 858,489.

REASONS FOR the exchange of Nate Thurmond for Clifford Ray, cash and a high draft choice have been thoroughly and accurately analyzed by the local dailies, but what wasn't done is a statistical comparison using the Pacini Method of breaking pro basketball stats down into 48 minute increments, thus showing statistical achievements in terms of full games.

First, comparisons which do not need the Pacini Method. Both have had knee troubles, but Thurmond is 33, Ray 25. Last year Thurmond played in 62 games for 2,463 minutes. Ray played in 80 games for 2632 minutes. Following is what each player did last year in 48-minute increments:

	FG%	FT%	Reb.	Assists	Blocks	Steals	Avg. pts.
Thurmond	44.4	66.6	17.0	3.2	3.5	0.8	15.7
Ray	51.1	60.8	17.8	4.9	3.2	1.1	13.6

(Prior to last season, Thurmond had averaged, for his career, 20.2 rebounds and 21 points per 48 minutes; Ray, 20.8 rebounds and 15 points.)

ONE-LINING SPORTS I see where Evel Knievel, the Abominal Showman ("Snow" Man might be more appropriate, after all) broke another record — the lowest motorcycle jump ever made.

The only faction disappointed in the outcome is Honda, who, rumor has it, tried to contract for salvage rights.

Actually, the reason Evel decided to jump Snake River was because it wasn't as risky as the original, until now secret challenge — jumping his Harley over the prone body of Raymond Burr.

THE ABORTED NFL strike must have Samuel Gompers turning over in Ed Garvey's Grave.

The players tried to parallel their martyrdom with other unions, but at least when the mine workers were getting the shaft, it was poetic, if not justice.

Picketing did get some players out of a prone position for the first time in years.

It was really about, said the players, the "Freedom Issues." Tightly edited, that reads, their freedom to worship money.

Swimmers Finish Marathon

Despite some misgivings by observers, all ten of the Peninsula Aquatics Club swimmer-runner-climbers in the annual Clear Lake Marathon Saturday finished the 15½-mile race, Jim Schriver of Millbrae leading the way by placing third.

George Warren of San Diego won the difficult competition with a time of 2 hours, 40 minutes, followed by Christopher Glass of Castro Valley and Schriver, the latter clocked at 3 hours, 15 minutes. There were 23 contestants.

The Peninsula delegation included four girls. One, 12-year-old Linda Ann Serne of Foster City, won a trophy as the youngest competitor. She placed 23rd with a time of 5:46.

Other Aquatics Club finishers and their places:

Charles Thomson, Millbrae, 6th; Doug Baitinger, San Mateo, 9th; Peter Thomson, Millbrae, 10th; Sarah Haning, San Mateo, 11th; Dana Horstmann, San Mateo, 12th; Mike Layne, San Mateo, 20th; Ginger Crowley, Foster City, 21st; and Matt Powers, San Mateo, 22nd.

The Thomsons are 15-year-old twins and finished 24 minutes apart, Charles at 3:25 and Peter at 3:49.

Jack Bettencourt of South San Francisco, swimming for the Dolphin Swimming and Boating Club, was the second oldest finisher at 45. He finished 18th.

Serra Defense Takes Charge

By STEVE JOHNSON
Post Correspondent

Serra High's offense had all the reputation going into last Saturday's practice season opener against visiting Palo Alto, but the defense did most of the work.

For the first 23 minutes the Padre offense sputtered. The defense blanked Paly and came up with a fumble that enabled Serra to score on a fourth down, one-yard pass from Jim Freitas to John Caselli with 17 seconds left in the half.

Serra went on to win 34-6, but every touchdown was set up by the defense — and the stop corps even scored once.

Padre defensive back Jim Meyersieck picked up that talley in the third quarter when he grabbed a Viking fumble and went 24 yards untouched.

"Defensively, we couldn't have played any better," said Serra coach Jesse Freitas. The Padres forced nine fumbles and recovered six. The Vikings gained just 110 yards for the afternoon, and were held to a single first down in the second half.

The Serra offense, receiving several gifts of field position, warmed up in the second half. Freitas recovered from a slow start (he was one for seven passing at one time) to finish 13-24 for 153 yards and three TDs.

All three paydirt strikes were from short range. Caselli, who had eight catches for 89 yards, caught two of the scores and John O'Leary the other.

Fullback Rick Garban led the ground game with 89 yards on 17 carries. All-County back Jim Walsh operated with limited effectiveness on a tender ankle.

Three Padre linemen played both ways with distinction: center-linebacker Brad Corsiglia, guard John Minahan and tackle Matt Walter.

Some New Faces at Skyline

The continued student enrollment increase at Skyline College, averaging at nearly 10 per cent, also has seen the employment of new personnel starting this fall semester.

A total of eight new full-time teachers, three administrators and counselors, and five classified positions have been filled.

Heading the list is the college's new Assistant Dean of Continuing Education Edward J. Valeau. The new dean will be in charge of the college's evening college, summer session, and continued education classes and programs.

He replaces David Marin who has been moved into a new post of heading the college's Community Relations and Community Services activities. Valeau is not new to the district as an administrator. During the past year he was Canada College's Assistant Dean of Instruction which included such duties as assisting the Associate Dean in Evening College registration and general administrative duties as well as a Multicultural In-Service Training Program in the evening college.

Tony Martinez, who for the past year served as a counselor with Spanish-speaking students at Santa Rosa Junior College, will be one of the college's Open Education Program counselors. He will serve as a temporary replacement for William Cornejo, who is the Skyline College Acting Director for Open Education.

A new guidance counselor, Linda Hanna, also has been added to the college's pupil personnel services division. She comes to the college from Del Mar and Leigh High Schools in San Jose.

The new instructors include Genevieve Lau who will be teaching English; psychology instructor Cynthia Marshall who replaces Rosemary Polivka who retired last spring term; physical education teacher Ruth Welles and Dr. Pedro Estacio, chemistry teacher, temporarily replacing Ardas Ozogomonyan. Ozogomonyan is currently on sabbatical leave, pursuing his doctorate at U.C. Berkeley.

Lyle Newcomer, a new physical education instructor, will also be the head basketball coach. Former basketball coach Walt Rilliet will devote full time to responsibilities as Director of Athletics and Physical Education Division Chairman.

The college also is involved in a teacher-exchange program with music instructor Robert Millar scheduled to teach at Habadashers' Aske's Hatcham School in London, and instructor Gordon Thornett from that school spending the year on this campus Thornett, who was born and educated in Manchester England, received his degree from Manchester University where he majored in music and French.

New Teachers At SSFUSD

With the opening of school this fall at El Camino High School in South San Francisco one new teacher was added to the staff.

Bill Faustine will be teaching Wood Shop and Auto Shop in the Industrial Arts Department. He graduated from San Francisco State University and did his student teaching at Capuchino High School.

An intern teacher was hired for the music and drama department. Becky Curlee, an El Camino High School graduate, will be teaching piano, guitar and theatre arts.

She attended both San Francisco State University and U.S.F.

Ryan Returns from Moscow; Will Propose Trade Status

Congressman Leo J. Ryan (D-San Mateo County) has returned from meetings in Moscow with senior Soviet officials and has proposed a U. S.-Soviet agreement which would give the Soviet Union normal trade preferences in return for a lifting of barriers against emigration of Russian Jews.

As a member of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs, Ryan headed a study mission to discuss the establishment of economic relations with Eastern European countries. The study mission also traveled to Poland, Hungary and Romania. This is the initial mission from Congress to Eastern Europe in recent times.

Ryan returned via Athens in order to gain a first-hand impression of the effect of the Cyprus crisis on U. S.-Greek relations and to discuss the Greek pullout of the NATO alliance. (Ryan was the Congressional Representative to the NATO Parliamentarians' meetings in Europe.)

"All of the countries I visited, particularly the Soviet Union, strongly desire to be granted Most-Favored Nation (MFN) trading status by the United States," said Ryan, after discussions with a wide range of ranking government officials in Moscow, Warsaw, Budapest, and Bucharest. MFN is the trading relationship normally extended by the United States to other countries.

Ryan, a member of the Subcommittee on Foreign Economic Policy, told the Soviet officials in the course of his meetings with them, that, in his opinion, a trade bill granting the Soviet Union MFN would not be possible unless the Soviet Union significantly alters its restrictive emigration policy with respect to Russian Jews and other minority groups. The Congressman also impressed upon them the need to improve the conditions under which American businessmen are required to operate in the Soviet Union.

Ryan noted that normalization of U.S.-U.S.S.R. trade relations would not only benefit the Soviet Union but would bring about a significant net increase in American jobs due to increased U.S. exports. "Normalization would also reduce tensions between the two super-powers, and improve prospects for world peace as the two countries become more interdependent," said Ryan.

Upon his return to Washington, Ryan announced that he would recommend that the Congress enact trade legislation providing for a one-year arrangement for granting MFN to the Soviet Union. Under this arrangement, Congress could either continue or terminate the relationship — depending on the progress achieved both in the field of trade and in the area of improving the plight of Soviet Jews wishing to emigrate.

With regard to the other Soviet bloc countries, Ryan believes that the time has come to normalize economic and commercial relations with those nations on a permanent basis as soon as possible. In fact, Poland has already been granted MFN. Ryan pointed out that the obstacles delaying the granting of MFN to the Soviet Union are not as severe in the case of the other Warsaw Pact countries.

Ryan will submit a formal report to the House containing his detailed findings and recommendations before Congress adjourns for the November elections.

Survey of Diseases Planned

The Bureau of the Census will survey a sample of households in this area this week to determine the extent persons have been immunized against selected diseases, John E. Tharaldson, director of the bureau's regional office in Seattle, announced.

The immunization survey conducted nationally every year, provides information on immunization against measles, influenza, smallpox, polio, diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus, rubella, and mumps. This information is needed for administration of health programs geared to disease prevention.

These health questions are in addition to the usual ones asked in the monthly survey on employment and unemployment conducted nationwide by the Bureau of the U.S. Department of Labor.

Results of the monthly employment survey provide data on condition in the labor force, prime indicators of the economic health of the country. For example, the nation's unemployment rate was 5.3 per cent in July; it was 5.2 per cent in the previous two months and had held in the 5.0 to 5.2 per cent range since the beginning of the year. Total employment was 86.3 million in July, essentially unchanged from June but up by 500,000 since April.

Information supplied by individuals participating in the survey is held confidential by law and is used only to compile statistical totals.
